DUI driver faces trial in death of gymnast

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

The trial of a man accused of vehicular homicide in the death of an 11-year-old Antioch Upper Grade student is slated for April 8.

Kelly Dean Kidd (alias Roberts), 38, of Round Beach was already indicted by a Lake County Grand Jury. Marissa Mueller, member of the Antioch Gymnastic Team and McHenry County Tumbleweeds, perished in the crash.

Mueller was a sixth-grader and was a lifelong resident of Antioch.

She attended the 1994-95 National Tumblers Finals and in 1996, placed fifth in Junior Olympics of Tumbling at the Superdome in New Orleans.

According to Fox Lake police reports, witnesses claimed the driver of the vehicle which hit the vehicle Mueller was a passenger in, was driving at a high rate of speed and weaving in and out of lanes.

Kidd was driving eastbound on Route 173 just east of Wilmot Road when he allegedly crossed into the westbound lane and struck See TRIAL page A10

State money available for township sewers

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

State officials say there is money available for sewers if the need is proven.

Antioch residents and some officials are pursuing the possibility of providing sewers to residents in the unincorporated areas. So far, nothing definite has been planned. However, the state does offer funding if an area qualifies.

"We have money available for new sewer projects," said Al Garver, northern district supervisor for Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

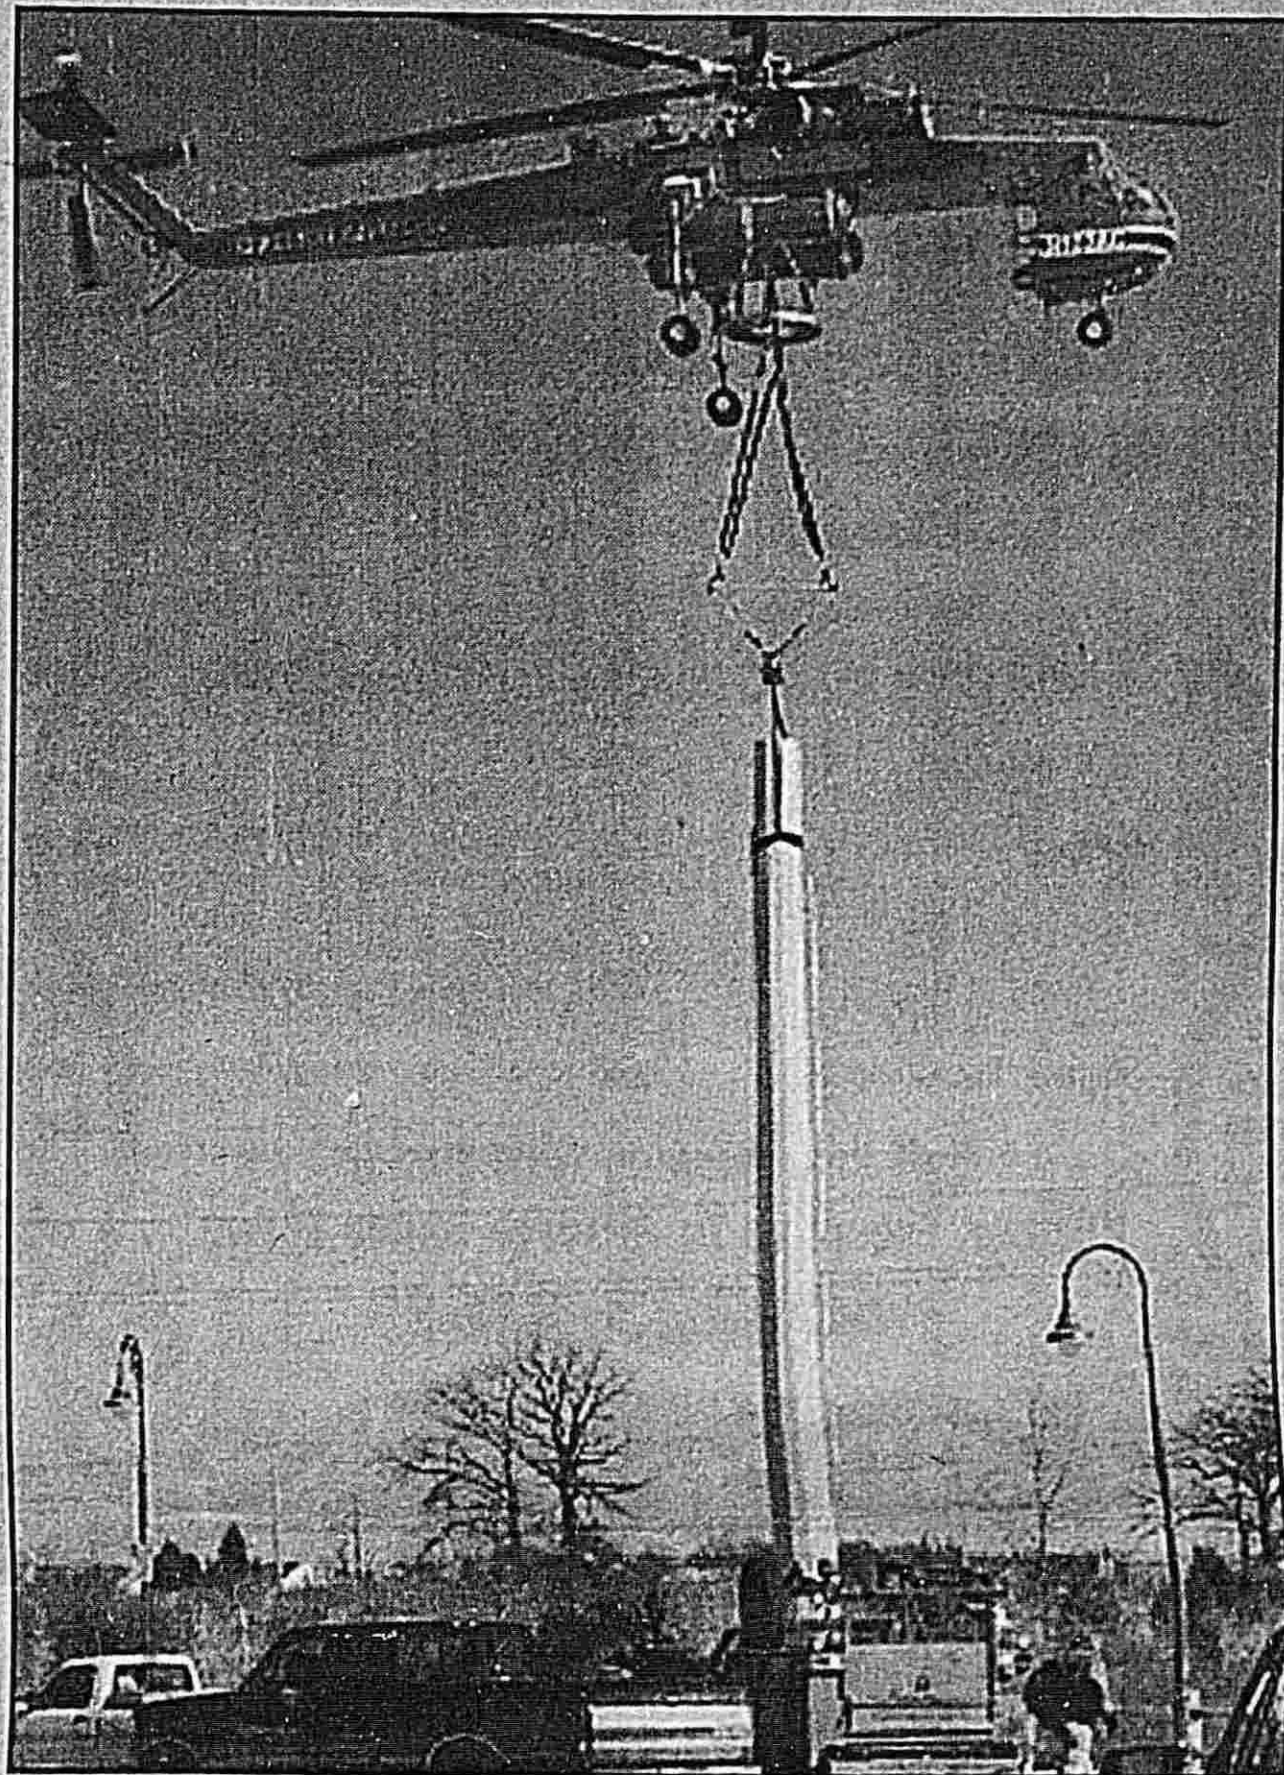

Garver said IEPA has four separate types of funding: upgrade existing facilities, expansion of treatment plants, development of sewer and for combined stormwater and sanitary plants.

The aid is based on need and the scope of the project, according to Garver.

Garver said for funds to become available, a facility plan must be developed. This plan would include a feasibility study outlining the need for the project and how a low interest loan could be paid back.

The loans would be at a 2.89 percent interest rate.

If a facility plan is approved, then additional documents regarding engineering and specification would have to be provided See MONEY page A10

Dropping in

A helicopter is the easiest way for Commonwealth Edison to install these 25,000-pound electric poles without damaging nearby wetlands. Once the operator is rolling it takes only about five minutes to place the poles 25 to 30 feet into the ground. All 17 poles were placed in one day for a power line which will run from Round Lake and Lake Villa to Antioch. The 6.2 mile line is scheduled for completion in April. —Photo by Linda Chapman

'Copter places electric poles in a matter of minutes

Aircraft avoids damaging wetlands, saves time

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Drivers on Route 83 may have seen a helicopter lifting up poles. This special aircraft maneuver is designed to save time and protect wetlands.

Com Ed authorized the airlifting of 17 specially crafted poles for wetland areas between Round Lake Beach and Lake Villa as part of a power line which will extend to Antioch. The project may appear daunting, but saves a considerable amount of time.

"We can do all of this in one day," said Joe Trexler, Com Ed spokesman. "It would take days to construct a road around the wetlands and to forklift the poles."

The helicopter work was performed by Erickson's Air Service. The helicopter had an operator inside who placed the poles in each location.

The poles can weigh as much as 25,000 pounds. They are pushed into the ground about 25 to 30 feet and are 5 feet in circumference, according to Marty Morse, construction superintendent.

Once the operation is underway, it can only take about five minutes to install a pole.

Each bolt is 2 1/4 inches in diameter.

Com Ed hopes to install the 6.2 mile line from Hainesville Road in Round Lake Beach to Route 83, just north of Lakeshore Drive in Antioch, by April, and have it up and running by June 1, according to Trexler.

Most of the line will be installed by traditional construction methods with the exception of these 17 poles.

The 138,000 kilovolt line will replace the current 38,000 kilovolt line.

"It will prevent the brownouts the area has been experiencing," Trexler said.

The line had its share of controversy. It helped create an anti-utility group called Citizens Against Unsafe Electricity (CAUSE).

CAUSE members argued the line wasn't needed and warned of possible health risks associated with electromagnetic fields.

Their efforts were successful in forcing Com Ed to bury a 1 mile of the line, the part which would be next to Palombi School.

"It was a long battle but it will benefit everyone in Lake County," Trexler said.

He added the line will handle the current needs and be capable of providing service needs for future growth.

ACHS continues computer upgrades with new units

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School is continuing its efforts at upgrading computers.

The board approved buying new computers in the Journalism Department and send the current journalism computers to an outdated lab, according to Superintendent Dennis Hockney.

"These computers are two years old, but they will be replacing old Macintosh Classics," Hockney said.

The computers are part of the district's efforts to prepare the school for the 21st Century.

In other business, the board approved a waiver which will permit them not to have to perform electrical work.

"We don't want to spend the money for an area that won't be there in a few years," Hockney said.

The board approved the custodial contract with W.F.F., the current provider, with a 2.5 percent increase next year.

Finally, the board agreed to participate in the Lake County Alternative School. The school is for expelled students.

It is being run by the Lake County Board of Education. The funding is provided through a $700,000 state grant. If ACHS needs to send a student to the school, it may or may not be paid for.

Hockney said the maximum cost for the school would be $400.

PM&L volunteer, school board member is Hometown Leader

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

An Antioch woman was recognized for making her hometown a better place to live.

Aileen Biel wears many hats, as she is heavily involved in education and the performing arts. She was the school librarian at Antioch Lower Grade and is a member of the Antioch Community High School Board. She earned the Hometown Leadership Award from WalMart.

"Ever since I met her in the early 1980s I have known her to be extremely dedicated to a unique group in Antioch known as P.M. & L.," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug. "Members of this non-profit community theatre work tirelessly to bring high-quality, live productions to village residents as well as loyal supporters from many miles around."

Biel's interest in theatre began as a child in England at the tender age of 7. She stage managed a few productions before emigrating to the United States in 1962.

"I'm a good organizer and I like to be in charge. You have to be a little bit of a mother hen," Biel said.

Biel's leadership positions at PM&L's board of directors include a four-year stint as president and 12 years as secretary. During her presidency, she supervised a major theatre renovation. As Advertising Committee Chairman, she raised $125,000.

"I also loved the theatre," Biel said. "I really prefer the backstage."

She now serves PM&L as its business manager.

"It only cost $5 a year and I loved the work," she said.

All of her children have performed at PM & L.

Biel served as a librarian for 18 years.

"I loved working with children and getting them interested in reading," Biel said.

She ran for the school board in 1993, and won.

"It was at a time of controversy. I didn't like the people who were running so I decided to put my two cents worth in. To my surprise, I won," Biel said.

The Hometown Leadership Award is given to elected officials who have accomplished great things for their residents such as government cost cutting, coordination of a local volunteer effort, implementing local development or renovation projects or establishing local services or programs.

Biel will use the $1,000 to renovate the PM&L lobby and upgrade the ticket reservation system.

Heavy rains just glide by town

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch officials were encouraged by the lack of flooding in their village despite a heavy winter rain.

Only one street area was affected from the near torrential rains which hit Lake County, Feb. 21.

"We are very fortunate we have a good storm sewer system," said Joe Huber, public works director.

Huber noted the only area which had any flooding was a field area at the intersection of North Avenue and Trevor Road.

There were no reports of basement flooding or need to close any roads.

"It was good that the ground was frozen because it ran off into the ditches and lower areas and stayed away from the houses," Huber said.

Huber said there was some ponding of water in low area but nothing of any significance.

Study to help chart Waterway projects

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

A state grant will provide the Fox Waterway Agency with a study to determine where all that silt is coming from.

And, hopefully, it will help the agency determine methods to combat the problem, according to Karen Kabbes, executive director. The funding if available through the Illinois Conservation 2000 initiative.

The grant will sponsor a $145,750 for habitat improvement of the Fox waterway. It is designed to determine the existing sediment and nutrient loads in the waterway and to determine future sites to reduce the load at Grass Lake.

"We have studies which are 20 to 30 years old. We need to find out what effect erosion control measures are having," Kabbes said.

Kabbes said a major concern is silt. The watershed involved covers 800 miles. The study will provide answers to where it is coming from.

The agency would like to construct silt basins to trap sediment, but needs to know the source.

The study will take two years to complete. The U.S. Geological Service will do the work.

Kabbes added a significant rain will help the study because it will be a great opportunity to explore the source of the sediments and pollutants.

She said the study may also provide ways the agency can reduce the algae by stopping some of the sources of runoff which cause algae to grow.

The money was given to the Fox River Partnership, a consortium of public and private environmental groups from Kendall, DuPage, Lake and McHenry counties.

"With more than 90 percent of Illinois' land privately owned, it is critical for government to work with private landowners to protect our environment," said Governor Jim Edgar in a news release. "I'm proud this program is helping shape Illinois' landscape for future generations and serves as a model for environmental management."

No more meters

Claude LeMere, community development director; Barbara Porch, owner of the Choosey Child; and Tom Huber, Antioch public works employee, examine the last parking meter in Antioch. The meters are now removed because of the village's comprehensive parking plan. Two-hour, six-hour and permit parking have replaced the need for parking meters.

Victim left near death in Grayslake downtown

A group of three men were arrested and charged in Grayslake after they apparently beat a 36-year-old man with a pipe, seriously injuring him. The incident occurred in a vacant room on the second story of a building at 250 Center Street, Feb. 25, around 3:20 in the morning.

The three men charged include Blair R. Haltom 18, with a last known address of Deerfield, Cullen J. Hanen 26, with no known address, and James McNeely who resides in the building where the incident occurred.

A Grayslake police officer was patrolling the area when he was flagged down by an individual who said there were a couple of men ganging up on another individual. The officer went into the building and saw blood all over and called for backup.

According to Grayslake Administrative Sergeant Matt McCutcheon, the victim and the three offenders were drinking in a vacant room at the building where McNeely lived. The victim, who also lived in the building, had joined them, but there was some sort of disagreement and an argument erupted.

"Words were exchanged between Blair and the victim and the all three alternated the victim and beat him very violently with a pipe," McCutcheon explained.

He said the victim remains in very serious condition in the intensive care unit at Condell Medical Center. At first they didn't know if he would live, but McCutcheon said the victim's condition is said to have stabilized.

Haltom was charged with two counts of aggravated battery with a deadly weapon, aggravated battery with great bodily harm and mob action. The other two Hanen and McNeely were charged with one count each of aggravated battery with great bodily harm and mob action.

McCutcheon said that all three have felony arrest records for incidents which occurred in Grayslake and elsewhere. Haltom has had several prior arrests for violent behavior, according to McCutcheon. Haltom and Hanen both met in the county jail.

Haltom and Hanen were also arrested the day before on Feb. 24, for theft of services after eating at Abel's restaurant on Center Street and leaving without paying a $17 bill.

Chemical leak sparks fumes, rumors

SUZIE REED
Staff Reporter

Business owners in downtown Libertyville are battling rumors and misinformation that seems to be spreading faster than fumes from an ammonia leak Feb. 21.

An area along Milwaukee Avenue was cordoned off and evacuated for six hours, causing the loss of thousands of dollars in business to area retailers.

"Everybody wants to blame somebody," said Jim Allen, owner of the Town Meat Market which is located in the front of the building that houses Lake County Seafood where the mishap occurred. He is particularly irritated at rumors that place the trouble in his store and inaccurate reports that similar incidents have happened repeatedly.

Refrigeration inspectors from Dual Temp have examined the system to determine it is operating properly, said Libertyville Assistant Fire Chief Pete Parker. The cause, he said, was mechanical failure of a diaphragm in the cooling system.

"Peterson was boning fish," said Allen. "He had to run out the back door."

The Libertyville Fire Department responded at 9:25 a.m., said Assistant Chief John Grom. Hazardous materials technicians from all Lake County departments were called in to assist.

"In certain concentrations it can cause an explosion and fire hazard," he explained. "We started to shut down utilities to eliminate sources of ignition."

Members of the haz-mat team arrived and shut the proper valves to stop the leak, and by 3:30 p.m., the levels were down below the explosive range, allowing crews to reopen Milwaukee Ave., he said.

Meanwhile, the surrounding one block area had been evacuated, Milwaukee Avenue was closed from Church Street up to Winchester Road, and the cash registers were quiet at all the businesses.

Emergency crews remained on the scene until 11:30 p.m., eliminating another small leak and continuing to ventilate the area, said Grom. Fire department personnel returned Saturday morning and gave him the go-ahead to open at 10:45 a.m., but business was slow.

No more kidding around for Miss Mary

It's hard to believe, but one of the teachers at Camp Crayon has parted ways for a real job. Surprisingly enough, the new position doesn't have anything to do with children—gee does that surprise any of us 48-hours-a-day moms. Recently the little campers at Camp Crayon said their fond farewells to one of their favorite teachers when Miss Mary departed on her new adventure.

There were lots of hugs and tons of tears, and that was just on Miss Mary's part. Even some of the moms got in the act when it was time to leave that last day and Miss Mary stood in front of the lined up campers preparing herself for their well wishes and final hugs; Kleenex was in great demand. Oh it was an emotional scene that had to play out three different times because of the three different classes. By the week's end Miss Mary was emotionally drained and probably questioning herself as to whether or not she had taken leave of her senses in deciding to trade all those smiling faces for bigger, less innocent ones. It is a great loss for the program to lose Miss Mary.

She was the glue that held everything together, the paste that kept the parts in place. She kept the young children in tow and the older teachers in line. She was the one with the reliable memory and the softest voice. She was the one who introduced the children to the calendar and its exact purpose. Everyday she would diligently go over what day of the week it was, the date, the month, the year and even season.

Granted the kids never learned about June, July or August, or Friday, Saturday, and Sunday or how to count past 31, but for the most part she got them that far and figured the kindergarten teachers could fill them in on the rest. Because of her fine work, all projects, art work and daily show and tell items made it safely to the appropriate cubbies in preparations for going home.

So all the campers send well wishes to Miss Mary in hopes that she will stop in from time to time and visit. One little girl in particular, who has no concept of where Miss Mary is departing or how long she will be gone, asked if Miss Mary would be sending her a post card to put on the refrigerator — as the Old Retired Lizard used to say "out of the mouths of babes."

So good luck Miss Mary in your new endeavor. You may want to gently tell your new boss that he had better be good to you and treat you nice or he will have 80 little campers paying him a visit — and nobody in their right mind would mess with those kind of odds. Best wishes Miss Mary and we look forward to your visits and postcards.

VFW News

Mark your calendars because once again the ladies of the Antioch VFW Ladies Auxiliary are gearing up for one of their fundraisers. They will be hosting a Pasta Buffet Dinner on Sunday, March 9, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the VFW Hall on North Ave. There will be music for your dining entertainment and, as always, the public is more than welcomed to attend. A fun-filled afternoon, with good food and music is all yours for a mere $10 donation per adult, children 6-12 is $6, with children under 5 being free.

A birthday note

Happy Birthday to all you folds out there who are looking for creative riches to stow away in those memorable goodie bags: Brandon (his mom is not happy with me) Abear, father Ron (St. Peter's newest member), Anglim, Nicholas (no more pizza) Brooke, Buck (mowin' those lawns) Bryant, Stevie Bryson, John Carter III, Mary Kate Dvorak, Brianna Emerson, Alyssa Filips, Tony Fragassi, Matt Friel, Stephanie Guido, Kira Haley, Pat (I haven't heard from you in months) Halvey, Brittany Harrison, John (real estate agent extraordinaire) Hochrek, Kyle Keefer, Emily Konvalinka, Ashley Langley, Austin Lengvenis, Maggie McDonald, Jenny Mosier, Crystal O'Brien, Missy Olenick, Jerry Olesky, Linda Plotz, "Aunt Kim" Pocrnich, Katie Powell, Tricia (our very own) Pringle, Kevin Propeck, Emily Schopen, Matt Schultz, Patrick Smerz, Jennifer Staten, Lindsey Teaters, the former "Miss Mary" Theel, Adeline Trout, Matthew Turner, Peggy (Ms. A.D.S.) ## Businesses join in Pinewood Derby

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Having the Pinewood Derby is nothing new. Having Cub Scouts compete with area businesses is totally different.

Pack 80 Cub Scouts from Grass Lake School area, will test their cars against Antioch, Fox Lake and Lake Villa businesses. This is the first time businesses and scouts have forged this partnership.

"It's good because it gets the community involved with the boys," said Paula Maniscalco, scout volunteer.

She added one of the businesses wants to take this a step further and have the boys over at their car dealership to learn more about that business.

"It's important for the boys because when they get to be Boy Scouts, they need to work with businesses," Maniscalco said.

The big day is slated for March 2, 3 p.m. at Grass Lake School.

Antioch Auto Parts will sport 12 derby cars of their own.

"It's very exciting," Maniscalco said of the event.

Maniscalco said she received an enthusiastic response from businesses when she asked for their support and participation.

"I asked them if they wanted to build a car and race and they said yes," she said.

Other businesses competing in the race include Lake Villa Chrysler/Plymouth, Raymond Chevrolet, Racers Edge and Fox Lake Mercury.

Businesses with monetary or prize donations, but not participating in the race are: Ipsen Cleaners, Lakes Area Barber Shop, Print Plus and Why Not at the Sand Bar.

There is still time for businesses to join in the fun. All that is required is a $50 donation. Call Maniscalco at 395-5374 or John Mandigo at 395-6235 for more information.

The sap is running again at Ryerson Woods

The sugar maples have already been tapped at Ryerson Woods near Deerfield, and reservations are now being accepted for the annual "Maple Syruping" programs. These popular family programs begin every 30 minutes from 1 to 3 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays in March.

On the one-hour walk, learn how trees work by discovering how sap is collected and turned into syrup. Everyone gets a taste of Ryerson Woods' pure maple syrup.

All ages are invited. Reservations and pre-payment are required. One adult per four children is also required. The pre-registration fee is $4 per person ($3 for Lake County residents). A fee of $5 ($4 for Lake County residents) per person will be charged for walk-ins. For more information or to make a reservation, call Ryerson Woods at 948-7750.

Share Food participants can get Easter dinner

The Antioch Share Food program had such a great success with the special Thanksgiving and Christmas packages that they have decided to have a special Easter package in addition to the regular share order.

For $14 plus $2.25 transportation, participants will receive a special Easter dinner. This will include a meat and all the trimmings to make a wonderful Easter dinner.

The regular share program is also available for the month of March at a cost of $15.25. Participants will receive a variety of meats, fresh fruits and vegetables and a few extra surprises. If interested in these share food programs, order by March 6 at the following sites:

First National Bank of Antioch, State Bank of the Lakes (Antioch) and the Lake Villa Township office.

Delivery will be March 22 between 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. at the Antioch VFW Hall on North Ave. in Antioch.

The Share program is a way of getting involved with the community. Volunteer two hours of time a month and pay $15.25 and receive $35 to $40 worth of groceries a month.

Any questions, contact Ardeen Harris, the Antioch Share Food coordinator at 395-2761.

Osmond says he'll match his community involvement with anyone

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Timothy Osmond feels his opponent, Carole Jonites is heading towards a negative campaign with her assertion that Osmond is a "do nothing candidate."

"I will match my community involvement and community commitment with anyone," Osmond said.

Osmond said he has attended numerous meetings relating to riverboats, utility hearings, sewer meetings, and worked on the Centennial Committee. He also is active in Antioch Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Lions Clubs. He also is chief of the Antioch Rescue Squad.

He points to his business background as a key plus in his bid for supervisor.

"I have 20 years of experience running a business. I am in the customer service business; I have developed a rapport with people," Osmond said.

Osmond planned to attend a Candidates Forum, Feb. 28, where he and Jonites will face each other for the first time as candidates.

He is a two-term township trustee. Jonites is president of UHAUA (United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch) and Felter's Homeowners Association.

Jonites claims she will be a full-time supervisor and Osmond won't devote all his time to the office. Osmond refutes that claim. He said his daughter is ready to handle the day to day responsibilities of his insurance agency.

"I will be a full-time supervisor. I will put all of my energies toward the job," Osmond said.

He added he may not be in the office from 9 to 5 every day but will be working for the township is some capacity such as attending important meetings or traveling to other townships for information.

Jonites has called for more openness and access to township records and more discussion on issues. Osmond said he too will change the way township meetings are run.

Both candidates are on the April 1 ballot.

Local actors in Shaw Festival in Milwaukee

Two local actors, Mary MacDonald Kerr (Paddock Lake) and Tom Hausman (Antioch/Wilmot High), are featured in the Milwaukee Chamber Theatre's 15th annual Shaw Festival being staged now through March 9 at the Broadway Theatre Center's Cabot Hall. For reservations call (414) 291-7800.

Jonites promises full-time supervisor

Carole Jonites is campaigning in the April 1 election to become Antioch Township's first full-time supervisor.

Jonites, a community activist and spearhead of a drive to bring modern sanitation to unincorporated areas of the township, says her opponent, businessman Tim Osmond, would continue the long-standing practice of tending to township business part-time.

"There's no way Tim Osmond can handle the job the way I intend to serve," exclaimed Jonites, who planned to question his commitment at a Chamber of Commerce candidates' forum Thursday morning.

They will square off again at a "Meet Your Candidates Night" Sunday, March 9, at Fox Lake's Leisure Village.

Both Jonites and Osmond regard the appearance at the senior citizen complex a key stop on the campaign trail because of the community's heavy voting history.

Public statements by Jonites, who has a business background in accounting, have been designed to draw a sharp contrast between her vision of township government and the administration of retiring Supervisor Jim Fields, who divided time between the township and service as a County Board representative.

Jonites wants to end the practice of abbreviated meetings, form a township planning commission, publish a regular newsletter, improve relations between the village and unincorporated citizens, improve service to seniors and establish an Antioch Township link with the county's mobile health unit.

"I can't believe none of this has been done. As a trustee for eight years, Tim Osmond has been part of a 'do nothing' system," asserted Jonites, president of Felter's Homeowners Assn. and organizer of United Homeowners Associations of Unincorporated Antioch(UHAUA).

Jonites makes no apologies for accepting the new lower supervisor's salary of $44,000 that kicks in for the newly elected supervisor.

"I intend to earn every penny of it," declared Jonites who was a prime mover in the battle to stop a riverboat casino from being located in Antioch Township."

Pointing to the difference in time constraints, Jonites said her opponent is captain of the Antioch Rescue Squad and is owner and operator of an insurance office and a laundromat. "He hasn't said he's going to give up any of these demands."

My entire attention will be devoted to serving the people of Antioch Township," said Jonites.

for final approval.

The application must have been sponsored by a township, municipality or county government to back the loan, according to Garver.

The issue has come to fore through the work of United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch (UHAUA). They convinced county officials to provide a sewer feasibility study.

The feasibility study projected 5,400 units and would cost $11,500 per resident. Currently about 3,700 homes in the township are without sewer service. County officials had indicated there appeared to be little grant money available.

There has been little discussion about the issue other than at a UHAUA meeting where members voted to petition the county for sewer service. The members made this decision after the township board rejected an offer to put the matter on the ballot as an advisory referendum.

Lindhurst has received tentative approval for a $5.3 million treatment plan expansion.

The organization is still in the preliminary stages. They have created a sewer committee and have not presented a petition to the county.

If the county board approved the petition, it would be virtually impossible to stop. Law requires at least 51 percent of the people to sign a petition against the petition if it were approved.

Skeptics point out all options and information hasn't been obtained for residents to make an informed decision.

Garver said a key stumbling block for many smaller communities is cost.

"The cost can be prohibitive," Garver said.

There are no immediate plans for a sewer proposal to come before the county board.

Carmel High School, the U. S. Dept. of Energy-Bartlesville Project Office, BDM-Oklahoma, and local companies are partnering with the Denver Earth Science Project at the Colorado School of Mines to host and provide the materials for a teacher training workshop, "Oil and Gas Exploration." The workshop provides an opportunity to participate actively in the module activities while attending special lectures by geologists, geophysicists and engineers. It also provides the necessary scientific background to teach the module successfully to students in grades seven and 12. The workshop will be held from June 23 through June 27, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Carmel High School in Mundelein.

Two hours of graduate-level recertification credit from the Colorado School of Mines is granted upon successful completion of the workshop. The fee for the course is $60.

For more information, contact Marianne Barker, Carmel High School, 566-3000, ext. 401, or Jim Proud, Denver Earth Science Project, Office of Special Programs, Colorado School of Mines, Golden, CO 80401, (800)446-9488.

Barker, the instructor for the course, has told other teachers that she "loves the module because it truly aligns with the new National Science Standards, because it is so centered in direct experiences (the latest term for "hands-on"), and because her students love it."

Regional final highlights ACHS girls hoops

Antioch High's girls basketball team, considering the obstacles it had to overcome, should look back with pride with the accomplishment of an 11-victory season.

The juggernaut known as the Lake Zurich Bears rolled through Antioch 72-39 for the regional final, but Antioch had achieved one of its goals by reaching that level. The season concluded with an 11-15 record.

"We were just up against a team which is a lot bigger than us and they shot the ball extremely well. I was pleased with the season. We are a young team with only two seniors and to make the regional final for the third straight year was great," Antioch coach Dave Woods said.

The Bears made 10 of their first 12 shots en route to an early lead. The rest of the game was just too much for Alicia Ratay and her 32 points for Antioch to mount a challenge. Anne Tierney added 15 as the Bears gained a 23-8 lead after one and never looked back. Lake Zurich nearly stumbled in the sectional semifinal, but downed Waukegan 50-47.

On defense, the 27-3 Bears were geared to stopping Carrie Gofron, Antioch's leading scorer. Nicole Langley, a junior, had eight points and guard Lisa Ipsen, who overcame a knee injury this year, had a good floor game, Woods said.

Junior forward Aja Brown, who came back to Antioch this year and had to relearn the offense and defense, could be a leader next year. Soph Kelly Stryck and Amy Carlburg will also be counted on next year.

Gofron competed but did not advance in the sectional level of the three-point competition.

"Carrie and Jeanna Miller were both our inspirational leaders," Woods said of the seniors.

Steady Newhouse leads WTHS to NSC crown

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

When Chad Newhouse reported to his first day of freshmen basketball practice at Warren Township High School, he was a green rookie trying to catch the eye of Blue Devil coaches.

He made such an immediate impact he not only made the team but started on the team which won the North Suburban Conference frosh race. He started his soph year, but the group slipped to second when Luke Moo was called for varsity work.

In a 65-62 squeaker of a win at Antioch on Tuesday, Newhouse was a steady influence as Warren clinched its second NSC outright crown in a row.

"I am always nervous before I play, but just playing calms me down and today was no different," Newhouse said.

Newhouse came off the bench and scored 16 points to lead the Blue Devils. Moo and James Williams, who also reported to WTHS that first day four years ago, had 15 and 14 points.

"Newhouse really helped us when we were groping to find the basket early. He got us going by drawing some charges and hitting shots. He picked us up," Warren coach Chuck Ramsey said.

So did 30-of-32 free-throw shooting and 16 in a row in the second half. That allowed Warren to withstand a barrage of three-pointers as Chris Groth sank 17 of his 23 points in the fourth quarter.

Warren's sharpshooting exceeded its 68 percent season average from the charity stripe.

"We work on our free throws a lot. I tried to penetrate to the basket and get fouled," Williams said.

The Blue Devils overcame the obstacles of: A) playing in Antioch, where they suffered their only conference loss last year and B) playing on a Tuesday.

Ramsey praised his squad for succeeding over the long haul to the tune of an 18-6 overall, 12-2 NSC record.

"The freshmen, sophomore and varsity are a combined 55-16 this season with champions at the soph and varsity level. A conference championship is significant because it is not just one game, where anything can happen, or one, two or five players. It is four months and it takes everybody," Ramsey said.

Antioch had the upper hand early as Warren struggled on offense. The Sequoia's biggest margin was 13-6 on two free throws by Groth. It reached seven again at 17-10 on two Mike Nielsen free throws. The junior had 16 points.

Warren, led by Newhouse, put on a 10-2 run to take a lead, capped off by a hoop from Darnell Smith.

ACHS maintained a 25-24 lead at intermission.

A three-point basket from the baseline by Williams sparked the Warren offense, which had found a funk again in the third. A four point ACHS lead was turned around to a three-point Warren lead.

7th, 8th graders split games in junior hoops

Antioch Junior Sequoits seventh grade basketball team split its last four games for an overall record of 8-4.

Antioch lost to Vernon Hills 43-40, Grayslake 42-35, but beat Mundelein 45-34 and Warren 44-32.

Against Vernon Hills, Joe Finkelberg had 12 points. Chris Kocinski had 10. Kocinski was the top point scorer with nine vs. Grayslake. He led with 13 against Mundelein while Chris Malec had eight. Kocinski was again the lead scorer with 14 points against Warren and Kevin Pendergast added eight.

Josh Bonner led the way in rebounds vs. Vernon Hills and Jeff Huebner was the leader against Grayslake. Tom Kenney and Drew Petkus led the way against Mundelein and Brian Walsh was the chairman of the boards against Warren.

On defense, Shawn Schuler was the standout against Vernon Hills; Justin Mehaffey against Grayslake and Kinney against Mundelein. Mehaffey and Ryan Callanan teamed for high honors against Warren.

The eighth grade doubled the score against Vernon Hills, 60-30. Eric White led the way with 17 points. Bob Huebner had 13 and Ari Brown had seven. Brandon White, Mike Parone and Dan Emskamp led in rebounding as the team recorded its second win.

Antioch continued on a roll with a 57-38 win over Grayslake. Huebner led the way with 18 points and Brandon White had 10. Eric White and Scott Hovina had eight each.

Bob Lowery and Zach Prot led the way in rebounding while Bryan Popp and Kent were the top defenders.

Antioch downed Mundelein 39-30. Brandon White had 16 points and Eric White added nine. Mike Perrone, Eric Langer and Prot were top rebounders.

Warren edged Antioch 46-41. Eric White scored 15 points and Brown had eight and Huebner seven in the loss. Brown keyed the defense as the team is now 4-7 overall.

Antioch gymnast wows Buckeye event

A 10-year old from Antioch bested the rest of the young gymnastics world as she gained first place at a tournament with more than 2,000 competitors in Columbus, Ohio.

Angel Simonini, daughter of Greg and Tracy Simonini, won the all around in level six Division 10 with a score of 37.75 points. She competed with a team from Grayslake based Gymnastics Factory.

"This is the world's largest gymnastics meet for youth with gymnasts from 28 states and four countries," Greg Simonini, her proud father, said.

"She is a tough girl. She is very strong and flexible and she enjoys work - that is the difference. It is a self-motivated sport. At this age, you never know what they will do, but as long as they keep the interest and motivation, we can expect a lot from them," Mario Norques, her coach, said.

Simonini said she likes all the events. Her scores were: second place on the vault with a 9.55; third on bars 9.475; beam seventh with a 9.275 and floor exercise, 9.45.

"You have to be able to compete in more than one event," Norques said.

Simonini, a student at Antioch Upper Grade School, is no stranger to the gymnastics room. She has been around the sport since one years old. "I train three hours a day, six days a week," she said.

Although it may be time consuming, Angel's Dad said his daughter "lives as much of a normal life as possible," he said.

An upcoming state meet is the next challenge for the Gymnastics Factory gymnasts.

"There are not so many high school gymnasts teams in this area, but there are more down by the Chicago area. The level is getting better and better every year," Norques said.

NSC crown

Warren seemed to be in complete control as the lead reached double digits and the Sequoits were fouling out. The last 10-point margin was gained as Mike Ryan sank two free throws.

Down by nine points with 62 seconds left, ACHS put on a furious rally. The Sequoits, who were coming off a win over Zion-Benton, started their comeback when frosh Don Lackey's putback trimmed the lead to nine. Nielsen answered with a three, then it was the Chris Groth Show. He hit a trio of three-point baskets, including one at the buzzer for the final score.

ACHS is at Grant March 3 for its first-round encounter. The Sequoits downed the Northwest Suburban Conference champs earlier at Antioch. ACHS brings a 11-13, 6-8 NSC record.

'It's a crazy feeling walking around at 3 a.m. with your sunglasses on.'

Sean Panzer

Greetings from the end of the Earth

Antioch native takes dip in 'coldest water in the world,' meets mountain climber Sir Edmund Hillary

by JEFF PATERSON
Staff Reporter

Like most parents, Lewis and Mary Panzer of Antioch like to get an occasional note from their children to find out how they're doing. But if most parents received news of minus 40-degree temperatures, oil spills and sunsets scheduled to occur in a few weeks, they might be concerned for their offspring's welfare.

The Panzers take it in stride, however, as they receive e-mails from their son Sean, who is working in Antarctica.

A 1991 graduate of Antioch Community High School, Sean, 23, is one of only about 5,000 people to have visited and actually stood on the South Pole.

"It's an amazing place," he writes to Lakeland Newspapers via e-mail. "Everyone there lives in a dome building about the size of a city block and let me tell you, it's freezing there! But their food there is legendary around McMurdo and it definitely lives up to its praise."

"McMurdo" is McMurdo Station, where Panzer is currently assigned as a waste technician.

The largest facility in the United States government's Antarctic Program, McMurdo is located on Ross Island, at the edge of the 110-mile-long Ross Ice Shelf. The station is 25 miles from an active volcano, 13,000-foot-high Mount Erebus, and 736 miles from the South Pole.

One of the country's three main bases in Antarctica, McMurdo functions both as a logistics center and as a scientific station, with research being conducted there in marine and land biology, geology, glacier formation, weather patterns and upper atmosphere physics.

Panzer arrived at McMurdo on Sept. 10, joining the station's summer (the seasons are reversed) population of 1,200. In the winter, McMurdo's population drops to 250 and the year-round ratio of men to women is 4:1.

As a waste technician, Panzer works with everything from household waste to hazardous waste and oil spills. He's been kept busy too. Since his arrival, Panzer has worked on three oil spills, with the last occurring a little more than a month ago.

"During our annual refilling from an oil tanker, the main hose ruptured, releasing close to 200 gallons of oil," Panzer writes. "Luckily, someone saw it happen, so they were able to stop the flow of oil... it could have been a major crisis. The spill was in the water, so we surrounded it with boom and used (ab)sorbents and oil dispersant agents to capture and breakdown the oil."

As one might imagine, the living and working conditions in Antarctica can be challenging. Just less than one and a-half times the size of the United States, Antarctica is the Earth's highest, coldest and windiest continent. The landscape consists of 98 percent ice, with an average depth of 1.5 miles, and 2 percent barren rock. Usual temperatures during the summer are 10 to 20 degrees Fahrenheit, but wind chill can make the temperature feel colder than minus 60 degrees on some days.

Because of the low temperatures, Antarctica is also the world's driest continent, and this, by itself, can make new arrivals ill at ease.

"When first arriving here, the dryness causes an uncomfortable period of occasional nosebleeds in some people and dehydration," Panzer writes. "During the time we're down here, our intake of water is a serious issue."

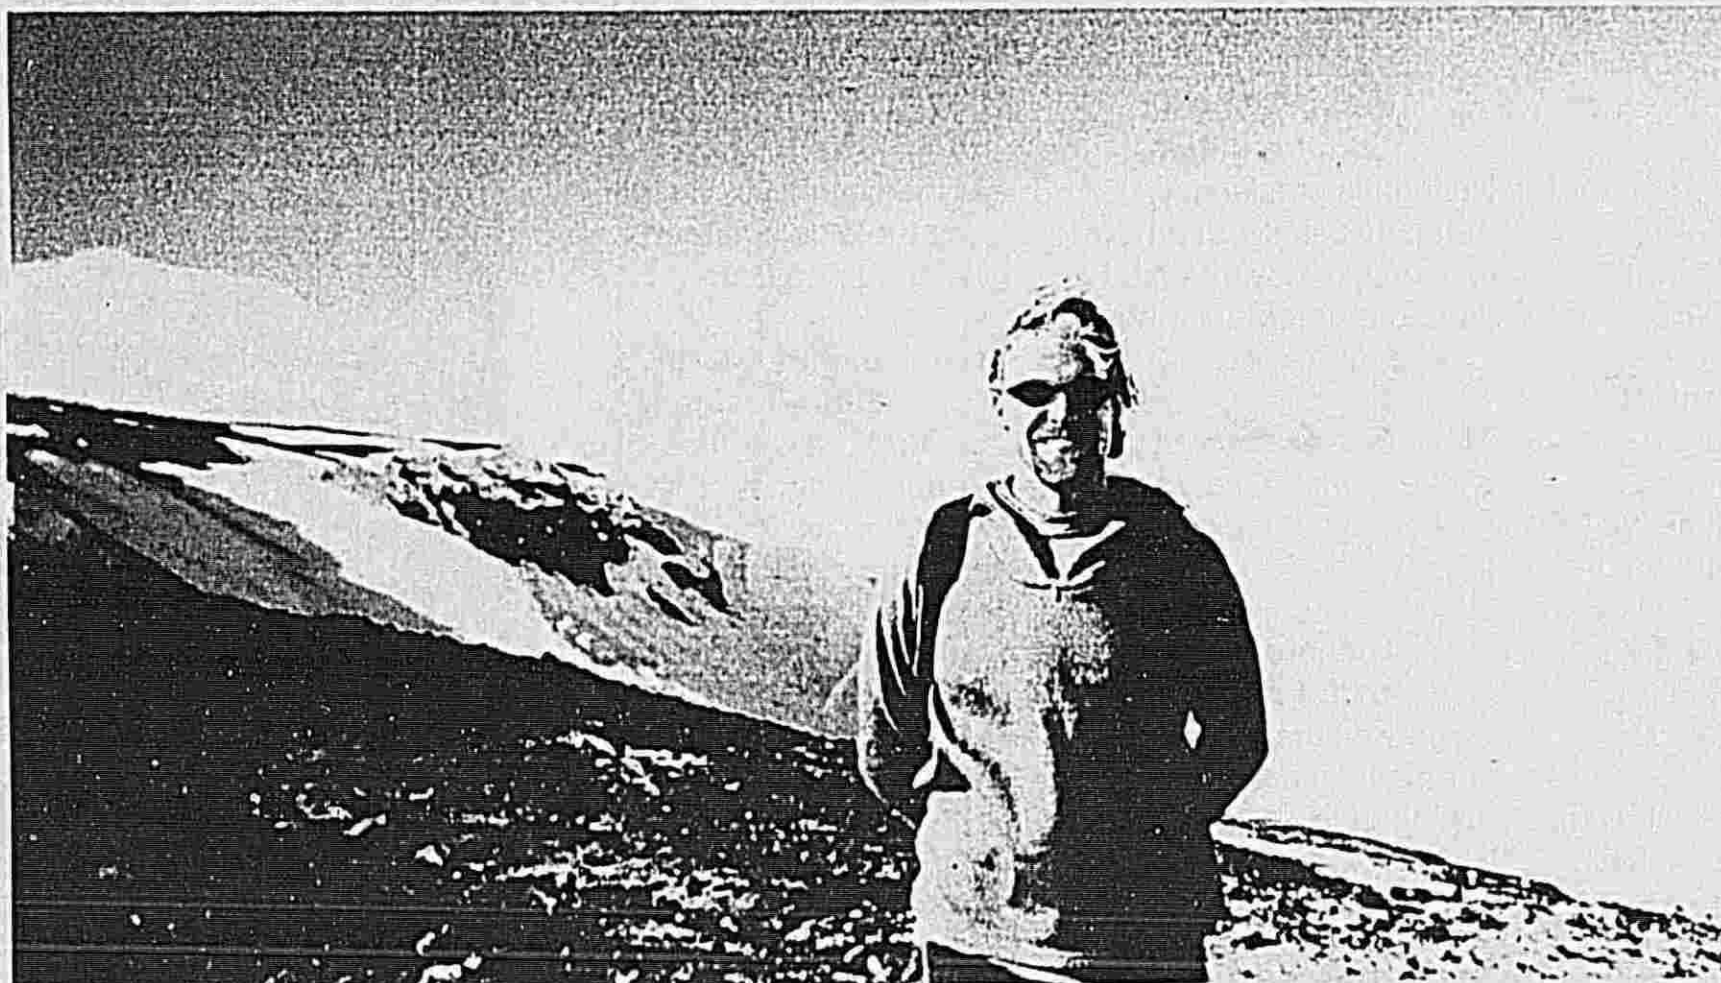

Panzer lives in one of seven dorm buildings opposite the base's food galley complex, which also contains the base store, money distribution office and other services.

The 54-hour work week is conducted in two shifts, with 7:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. shift changes. 'Night shift' is an abstract concept at a place where the sun doesn't set for months.

"It's a crazy feeling walking around at 3 a.m. with your sunglasses on," Panzer writes. "To sleep, we throw blankets over our windows. During the winter season (March-October), McMurdo sees less and less sunlight and, at about midseason, they're living in almost non-stop night."

Although people might have a difficult time in Antarctica, Panzer has seen signs of thriving wildlife. He has stood in the middle of a flock of 200 penguins, seen a seal give birth and has spotted killer whales offshore.

Aside from appreciating the flora and fauna, there are See PANZER page B10

American Girl quilt, tea set at Lake County Museum

Addy Walker, the popular fictional "American Girl," will talk about life during the Civil War at the American Girl Quilt and Tea, on Saturday, March 8, from 1 to 4 p.m., at the Lake County Forest Preserves' Lake County Museum.

Hear the tale of Addy's life as an African American girl growing up during the Civil War at this special living history performance. Then, grab a quilt square and learn basic quilting stitches. The program will be followed by an old fashioned tea party, complete with fresh tea and cookies. Addy will be on hand throughout the program to answer questions from children.

Come early and visit the museum's galleries before the program. American Girl Quilt and Tea is open to families with children ages 12 and under. The cost of the program is $8 ($10 for non-Lake County residents). Reservations and pre-payment are required. Materials will be provided for the quilt project.

The Lake County Museum is located in Lakewood Forest Preserve on Rte. 175, just west of Fairfield Road near Wauconda. For more information or to make a reservation, call the museum at 526-7878.

Birthday celebration

Chicago is turning 160 years old and to celebrate, the Chicago Historical Society is hosting "Happy Birthday, Chicago!" This first annual birthday celebration for the city happens on Saturday, March 1 from noon to 4 p.m. The CHS is also presenting a theater production about the city's first settler on the evening of Chicago's birthday, Tuesday, March 4, at 7:30 p.m. There's going to be more than the traditional birthday cake and candles, and everyone is invited to attend.

An afternoon filled with activities is planned for the commemorative Saturday event, including musical performances, a jazz workshop, costumed interpreters and a scavenger hunt for kids. The Saturday program is as follows:

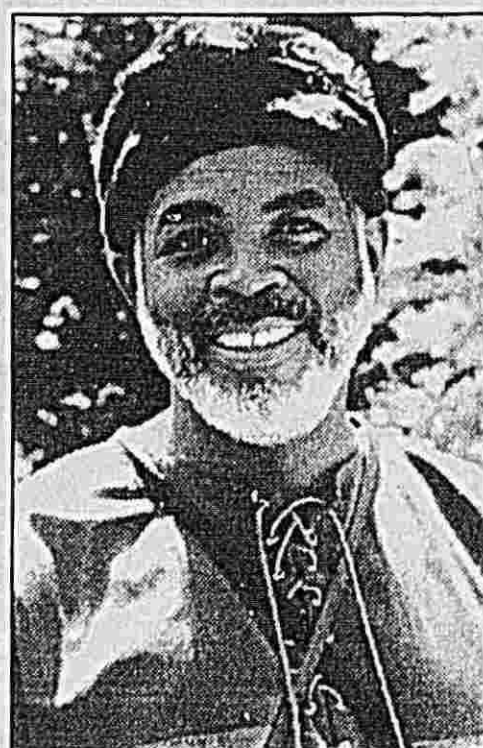

12:30 p.m. Costumed performance of Jean Baptiste Pointe du Sable, the city's first settler, first entrepreneur, and first African American.

2 p.m. "A Fire in Boom Town," a captivating performance of music and storytelling about the Great Chicago Fire, performed by Amy Lowe and Megan Wells.

3:30 p.m. Jazz workshop by Mwata Bowden explores African-style music—where the audience is as much a part of the performance as the musician.

All birthday activities are free with admission to the museum. Any child who brings a canned-good item as a birthday present to the city will be admitted free of charge. Canned goods will be donated to an area food bank. Everyone's invited to help blow out the candles on the birthday cake at 4 p.m.

National Pig Day

Join the staff at Brookfield Zoo for the most s-pig-tacular event of the year, National Pig Day, on Saturday, March 1. Festivities take place between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The stars of this annual holler-day take center stage in the Children's Zoo at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Cheer on Oreo Ossabaw Island pig and Tango Yucatan miniature pigs as they demonstrate various behaviors that include playing pig basketball and distinguishing objects by scent, thus confirming that the pig is indeed the smartest of the farmyard animals. After the demonstrations, visitors are invited to sing a rousing rendition of "Happy Pig Day to You" to Oreo and Tango. The guest of honor will then receive a special treat of carrot bouquets.

Pig lovers can hoof on over the the Discovery Center holding theater to create their own "Happy Pig Day" cards and bookmarks from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. While there, be sure to get a National Pig Day treat courtesy of Jewel Food Stores.

Also in Discovery Center is Swine Cinema featuring "Pigopolis." This 12-minute animated video is about a city of pigs who learn to become conservation conscious. "Pigopolis" runs continuously in the main theatre from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

If you have a passion for pigs, you can adopt Oreo and Tango for $25 through Brookfield Zoo's Parents Program. For further details, call (708)485-0263.

Charlie Brown

"You're A Good Man Charlie Brown" returns to Marriott's Lincolnshire Theatre for Young Audiences. Performances run now through May 17

Wednesdays through Fridays at 10 a.m. and Saturdays at 11 a.m.

A question and answer session with the cast follows each performance.

Ticket prices are $6 for individuals, groups of 15 or more are $5 and available by calling 634-5909. Birthday party celebration packages are also available with groups of 15 or more, the birthday boy or girl receives an autographed picture of the cast and a complimentary ticket.—by ROSELLE LOVE

Presidential Secrets

You may know that Ronald Reagan was a movie star before he took office and that George Washington could not tell a lie, but below are some facts that you probably didn't know:

Woodrow Wilson, 28th President

In the White House, Wilson's daily breakfast was a glass of grapefruit juice and two raw eggs. His favorite lunch was chicken salad.

While in office in 1919, Wilson was awarded with the Nobel Peace Prize.

Franklin Roosevelt, 32nd President

While recovering from polio, FDR spent some time writing a movie script based on the history of the ship, "Old Ironsides." He never succeeded in selling it to Hollywood.

Roosevelt was the first president whose mother was eligible to vote for him. He appointed the first female U.S. ambassador to a foreign country.

A very popular president, FDR was elected for four terms.

John Kennedy, 35th President

During his presidency, Kennedy usually swam two times each day in a pool that he ordered to be heated to 90 degrees.

Kennedy was known to be careless with money and was always borrowing cash from friends.

Richard Nixon, 37th President

Nixon was the first president in American history who managed to visit every state while in office.

Theodore Roosevelt, 26th President

A man of great activity and physical fitness, President Roosevelt was said to exclaim "Bully!" when he was pleased.

Ronald Reagan, 40th President

At the age of 69, Reagan was the oldest person ever elected president.

Jimmy Carter, 39th President

Before he took office, Jimmy Carter served as a naval engineer, working with nuclear-powered submarines. He also managed his family's peanut farming business.

John Quincy Adams, Sixth President

The old saying "Like father like son" applies here. Adams was the son of the second U.S. president, John Adams.

The dream continues: A tribute to Bix Beiderbecke

Phil Pospychala presents "A tribute to Bix Beiderbecke" March 7 through 9 at Raffaelli's and Hitch-Inn Post, Rtes. 21 and 137, Libertyville. The fest includes the 12-piece Hotel Edison Roof Orchestra, Bunk Johnson Mystery Band meets Ralph (Bix) Norton's Varsity Ramblers and The Hot Club of Chicago featuring music by the great Django Reinhardt.

Added to the weekend of entertainment will be two days of record sales, a $500 mystery record contest, New Orleans seminar, rare big screen jazz films, 78rpm Bix birthday cakes and more.

The Bunk Johnson Mystery Band is the result of the leader's 20-plus years of longing for the perfect New Orleans styled band where every member has a deep love of, and, understanding of the music. The band was formed in 1989 and is committed to preserving and playing old style New Orleans music, while having fun doing it.

Willie "Bunk" Johnson played cornet with the first recognized jazz band around the turn of the century. He was rediscovered in the 1940s, given a new horn and new set of teeth, and electrified audiences around the country.

His rediscovery helped to launch a traditional hot jazz revival that is still going. A young African American musician, Churchill Caruthers, will narrate Bunk's early life and play a couple of his tunes. The Mystery Band and Varsity Ramblers will demonstrate different ways of playing the same tunes. Bunk Johnson meets Bix Beiderbecke on Saturday, March 8 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, March 9 at 1 p.m.

Hotel Edison Roof Orchestra will perform March 8 at 8 p.m. and March 9 at 1 p.m. The 12-piece orchestra is led by John Otto with Pletcher, Sager, and Giordano. Hot Club of Chicago, led by Steve Gibbons with guest violinist, Suzanne Lansford, perform on Friday, March 7 at 7 p.m.

Tickets to the "Bix Fest" are $59 for all events; Saturday and Sunday concerts are $22 each day. For further information, call 362-4016.

Making college choices can get grizzly

When my first son decided to transfer to Fairhaven College, located several hours north of Seattle, Washington, I joked that he couldn't have picked a U.S. college much farther from home and that, with my luck, (ha, ha, ha), his brother will pick Alaska.

Well, the joke's on me as my second son, Sean, a senior in high school, makes his college choice. You guessed it—darned if he hasn't decided that Alaska is just the place for him!

While he has assured me that his choice has nothing to do with my breath, my deodorant or my personality, I can't help thinking—"What is it, then? The litter box?"

Either I have raised my oldest two sons to be very independent, or they are attempting to put as much distance between me and my Bonnie Raitt records as possible.

Sean tells me that the reason he's choosing Alaska is that he wants to become an animal behaviorist, someone like Jane Goodall, only different (male, for starters).

Specifically, he wants to study wolf behavior, and he figures that Alaska is the best place to do that.

I'm not convinced that's necessary. As far as I know, it's possible to study wolves right here in Illinois (which, in my high school days, was called "dating").

In fact, I suggested he may want to attend an Illinois university, and do his field research on the weekends by coming home and spending time with his little sister, whom we affectionately call "Mowgli" Abear. However, could swear he never heard me. Correct me if I'm wrong, but to me a clean room is one where the carpeting is actually visible without using a fork lift to move the dirty laundry and empty pretzel bags out of the way.

As it turns out, apparently he was listening, but since he is a person with his own opinions, the room was clean—in his opinion. (To Sean, and his brother before him, a clean room has only two requirements—no rotting food or cockroaches.)

So it seems this young man that I raised to be independent and to trust his own opinions, is doing just that. And he says he resents my attempts to change his mind, feeling I should be more supportive of his college choice.

And I want to be. Really. But every time I picture my beloved "little boy" packing his bags next August for Alaska, I get this mental picture of two grizzly bears checking him out from behind a tree and whispering,

"Let's do lunch!"

Not only that, but I'll be picking up the check!

Editor's note: Donna Abear can also be heard as a guest humorist on WXLC's 102.3 FM's morning show at 7:10 a.m. on alternate Mondays.

he reminded me that he wants to be an animal behaviorist, not a zookeeper.

I've even tried suggesting alternate schools in other locations, such as Minnesota, a state known for its wolf population, but his answer is always the same—"So, who asked you?"

Obviously, he is under the impression that I have raised him to be a person who is capable of forming his own decisions and opinions. Well, I guess this is somewhat true, only I never expected him to actually take me seriously!

Like most parents, I assumed Sean wasn't listening. For example, every week for at least the last eight years, I have asked him to clean up his "room," and I

Abe Lincoln, Mary Todd to visit Flatlanders

Michael Krebs portrays Abe Lincoln with DeAnn Heck as his wife, Mary Todd.

Abe Lincoln and his wife, Mary Todd, will visit Flatlander's Restaurant and Brewery, Lincolnshire, for an early afternoon 90 minute play that will benefit area schools.

The title role will be played by Michael Krebs, currently under contract as Lincoln at the Lincoln exhibit in the Chicago Historical Society, and DeAnn Heck as Mrs. Lincoln. James Clark will perform the role of William Crook, Lincoln's bodyguard.

John Jacobs, president of Flatlander's, said the play is the first production in the 10 month old restaurant and is designed as a family event.

It will begin with the serving of lunch starting at 11:30 a.m. followed by the play at 1 p.m. on Sunday, March 9. The restaurant is located at Milwaukee Avenue and Half Day Road, just north of Rte. 22.

The cost is $7.50 for children in eight grade and under ordering from the youth menu and $15 for adults. Clark said children will particularly appreciate this educational play with its audience participation.

Reservations may be made by calling Flatlander's at 821-1234.

Clark said the play, praised by newspapers and sponsors throughout the state of Illinois, takes a look at the Lincoln White house, family thoughts and Civil War matters, a few hours before the Lincoln's leave to attend a theatre.

Flatlander's with its Prairie Style and old English malt house architecture featuring unique interior furnishings in the 15,000 square foot brewery and restaurant has won awards for its hand crafted beer and newspaper restaurant critic praise for its Midwestern style food.

Is Cuba the Next Caribbean Vacation Hot Spot?

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

I remember my grandparents raving about their cruise to Havana. That was before Castro took power and the U.S. trade embargo virtually closed Cuba to American tourists for over 30 years.

There are signs now, though, that we may again experience the beauty of this Caribbean Island Nation.

With the demise of the Soviet Union, Cuba lost its largest trading partner. Now desperate for foreign capital, Castro has made tourism development a cornerstone of his country's survival.

It is still unlikely that with Castro in power, the U.S. will be lifting trade sanctions against Cuba. However, there's some real money being bet that Castro may be stepping down soon.

While you're not likely to get them to admit it publicly, virtually every major cruise line with ships in the Caribbean already has the ground work set to include Havana as a port of call.

SuperClubs, the all-inclusive hotel chain known to anyone who has visited Jamaica, has already opened a 160 room resort in Cuba.

Though technically in violation of the U.S. embargo, some Americans have taken advantage of a one-day $199 package to Cuba from Jamaica offered by Sun Holiday Travel of Montego Bay.

You can, however, visit Cuba now and still remain within the law if you have educational, journalistic or scientific objectives or have relatives in Cuba.

The rest of us will just have to wait a little longer.

Movie Pick 'Absolute Power' has none

"Absolute Power" has an Academy Award cast and is directed by an Academy Award director. So why do we want to change its name to "Absolutely Powerless?"

This would-be thriller, involving a tainted White House and a President that might resemble our present one by sexual reputation, seemingly has all the ingredients for a big time mystery. A good script is the main missing ingredient.

Clint Eastwood, star and director, plays a master thief who, while breaking into a mansion outside of Washington D. C., is forced to hide in the vault he is looting when he is interrupted by visitors.

In the ruckus that ensues, Eastwood uses the vault's one-way mirror to witness the murder of Melora Hardin by two men, while the woman's drunken lover and another woman watch.

The lover is a sleaze ball President of the United States, played by Gene Hackman. The two murderers are secret service agents played by Scott Glenn and Dennis Haysbert, and the other woman is the President's chief of staff played by Judy Davis.

After Eastwood does his special disappearing act with a letter opener that any D & A test will show has the President's blood on it, it's all downhill as our second story man naturally becomes the target of the President's watchdogs.

All of Eastwood's master thief tricks are talked about, but none are done on camera, laying credence to the fact that our star, who was too old to play in "The Bridges of Madison County," a few years ago, is definitely too old to play an action hero. He was much more believable as the aging secret service agent in "In the Line of Fire."

The plot is full of holes and in the main, just plain off the wall, leaving too much unexplained. Everybody seems to know too many things we find impossible for them to know.

Hackman, Davis and Ed Harris, who is investigating the murder, are all wasting their time and talents in this one.

Clint Eastwood

Even Eastwood's usual directorial prowess is lacking.

Though it has a few good moments, they are far too few, with a lot of Mickey Spillane type of pulp fiction in between. We give it two out of five stars, definitely wait for the video material.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Many perennials take care of themselves

Perennials are plants with many values. Although the name perennial suggests permanence, perennials do not flourish forever. A popular myth about perennials is they die down every year and come back again each spring, and that they are maintenance free. Most perennials have to be divided every second or third year to flourish and some are not fully hardy.

In selecting perennials, emphasize the reliable. Eliminate those that bloom briefly, or are particularly invasive. Peonies, iris, daylilies, phlox, hardy asters and chrysanthemum are good choices.

It is a good idea to use plants whose foliage looks good in or out of bloom. Corabells, pinks, and hardy candy tuft are good examples.

There are many perennials that virtually take care of themselves: Astilbe, baptisia, lily of the valley, hostas, baby's breath, heliopsis, oriental poppy, viola, shasta daisy, and rudbeckia.

The tendency to flop, or the inability of the plant to bear the weight of its own flowers is a major "fault" of many perennials. Some that have this tendency possess too many other good qualities to be excluded from the low maintenance garden.

There are some methods of staking that are simple, effective, and require little time for the hurried gardener. All staking should be done as early in the growing season as possible, or as soon as the plants reach half of their height. Staking a full grown plant requires much more time and the results are usually unattractive. If a plant is left unstacked, the stems can be easily twisted or broken by rain and wind. After a while the twists become permanent and staking at such late time produces little results.

Many plants that produce multiple stems may be staked with twiggy branches set in the ground just before they start growing in the early spring. This is a very natural method; as the plant grows it is completely supported by twigs, but the twigs are entirely hidden. The stems of taller perennials with large, heavy flowers must be staked individually.

Green bamboo canes are best with Delphinium and Chrysanthemums, plastic twisties with a twist in the tie between the stem and the stake work well, and avoid damage to the stem. Shorter plants such as peonies can be easily support with a round hoop attached to three or four legs.

The hoops can be made from wire coat hangers. Sooner or later most perennials need to be divided, to prevent excessive spreading and to invigorate the plant. Division is also the simplest means of propagating perennials.

Spring or fall is the time to divide; plants divided in spring have the advantage of an entire season for new roots to establish before winter. The best indications that a plant needs to be divided are: the plant loses its vigor, clumps become very tangled in growth or clumps open up and form a dead space in the center.

Small plants can be divided with a fork or small spade, they may also be pulled apart by hand or cut with a knife. Large vigorous clumps are best lifted with a spading fork. Insert the fork at several points around the outside of the clump, with gentle upward pressure exerted at each point. If this is done gradually the clump can be lifted with minimum root breakage.

I hope you will decide to add some perennials to your flower garden, and enjoy them for many seasons to come.

Peace.

RJ's Eatery, located on beautiful Sand Lake at 1913 E. Grand Ave. in Lindenhurst, just four miles west of Gurnee Mills, offers a fantastic view combined with excellent service.

The rustic atmosphere enhanced by an aviation theme and the fast and friendly service delivered by an experienced staff will make your dining experience a memorable one and keep you coming back for more.

Another feature of RJ's is the Outback Bar, a great place to meet friends or watch your favorite sporting event, with three TVs and drink specials. The restaurant boasts of the "World's Finest Pizza," with a choice of home-made thin crust, double decker or pan pizza available. Choose from a large selection of pizza toppings which are always fresh. Be adventurous and try one of RJ's Specialty Pizzas: Super Italian, All Veggie, Mexican, Three Cheese, or the RJ Special.

Friday's fare includes a delicious all-you-can-eat fish fry for only $7.49. That price also includes your choice of potato and soup. Saturdays are extra special with as many succulent Alaskan snow crab legs as you can eat for only $17.95.

Planning a wedding rehearsal dinner, birthday party, shower, or special event? RJ's can accommodate groups up to 100 people. RJ's will give your event that memorable touch.

You'll always find something you like at RJ's, a neighborhood eatery specializing in juicy 1/2 lb. burgers, a salad bar known for its large selection of delicious items, succulent barbecue ribs, Mexican and Italian dinners or broasted chicken. Kids even get their own menus to choose from, along with a game room.

All items on RJ's menu are also available for carry-out. They offer free delivery within the west Gurnee, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst area. Call (847) 356-2300.

The restaurant's hours are open daily from 11 a.m. The bar is open until 1 a.m. Sunday through Thursday and until 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday.

a number of both indoor and outdoor activities to occupy McMurdo residents. Activities in the station's gym include volleyball, indoor hockey, soccer and scaling an indoor practice rock-climbing wall. Outside, cross-country skiing, mountain biking and hiking are popular pastimes.

There are other things to do as well, including patronizing two bars and a coffee shop at the station. Panzer also volunteers once a week as a DJ at the station's only radio station.

"I'm getting requests for everything from Frank Sinatra to Nine Inch Nails," he writes. "Here's a little interesting fact: the most requested song every year down here is 'Down Under' by Men at Work."

Fun is also added to the sub-zero mix by the staff of 100 at New Zealand's Scott Base, approximately two miles from McMurdo. The New Zealanders, nicknamed 'Kiwis' after their country's national bird, have an annual tradition called "The Polar Plunge," in which brave souls dive naked into the ocean through a hole cut in the ice. Panzer was a participant.

"I had to give it a try, and let me tell you, that water is so cold you feel like your heart stops," writes Panzer. "The salt levels in Antarctica are so high, the water stays unfrozen at 27 degrees and is said to be some of the coldest in the world!"

Later, a team from McMurdo, which included Panzer, was taught the finer points of the game of rugby by a team from Scott.

"There's nothing like getting your butt whipped by a group of guys who actually know how to play the game," writes Panzer. "We lost 6-2 and I think those two points were mercy points by the Kiwis."

Panzer has done some visiting while way down south. He has slept out on the ice at Byrd Camp, one of the oldest on the continent, and has been to the ice-coring project at Siple Dome. Scientists on the continent are sampling ice more than two miles deep and up to 160,000 years old to gain insight into air temperature and composition in the planet's distant past.

Surprisingly enough, Panzer has also met his share of celebrities while in Antarctica. On Jan. 18, Norwegian polar explorer Borge Ousland arrived at Scott Base after completing the first successful solo 1,700-mile trip across the continent. Panzer was able to attend a slide show presentation and question and answer session hosted by Ousland.

Another famous explorer, on hand to welcome Ousland and help Scott Base celebrate its 40th anniversary, was Sir Edmund Hillary, the New Zealand mountain climber and leader of the first successful expedition to the summit of Mount Everest in 1953.

"Right before the end of his (Hillary's) talk, we were informed that he would be more than happy to sign autographs, so I got him sign his autograph on the Kiwi five-dollar bill, which has his face on it," Panzer writes. "I can't emphasize how many interesting and amazing people I've seen and met down here."

Panzer is currently visiting New Zealand on a hiking trip before he leaves Antarctica on March 7. Sean will visit brother Scott and his wife Kate, both former Antarctic firefighters, in California before returning to Illinois near the end of March, and eventually to his home in Washington State. The three are considering applying to return to Antarctica together, but Sean has other plans as well.

"My future career goals," he writes, "are to work in cleaning up polluted areas in the world, travel through every county and visit the North Pole."

Everything goes at Village Tavern

The Village Tavern, 135 Old McHenry Rd., Long Grove, will conduct its first ever Close Out Sale of auction merchandise on March 4 and March 11 from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and a Preview Sale of spring auction merchandise on April 1 and April 8 from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The landmark tavern, owned by Long Grove resident Norma Sayles, has held evening auctions of antiques and consignment goods for over 30 years. According to Chip Ullrich, general manager and auctioneer for the past 2 year, "everything in the restaurant is for sale. People have bought paintings off the walls and tables they eat at."

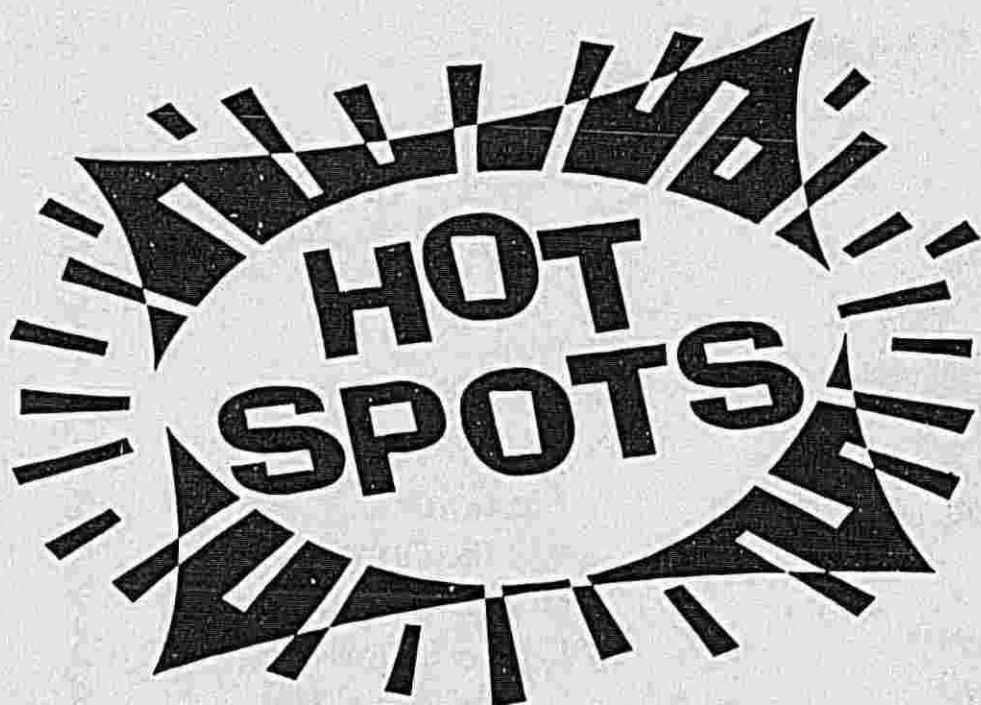

Mangel Gifts, 421 Robert Parker Coffin Rd., Long Grove has also scheduled personal appearances by decorative artist Liz Pegorsch and folk artist Alyson Robbins. Pegorsch will demonstrate the art of hand painting large goose eggs for Easter gifts on March 1, 8 and 15, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Robbins will personalize birdhouses, custom-crafted by her father, Alan Dieter, on March 2 and 15, from noon to 2 p.m.

Joyce Cartozian, known for her original costumes for concrete geese, will demonstrate and introduce her new spring collection on March 1, 8, and 15 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Easter table decorating will be the focus of a class by Penny Amaya, at Seasons of Long Grove, 314 Old McHenry Rd. on Friday, March 14. Cost of $19.50 includes afternoon tea, and a $5 gift certificate toward merchandise purchases at Mangel Gifts, Pine Cone Christmas Shop or Long Grove Confectionery.

Winners, losers seen in HMO business

FRANK E. NICHOLSON

The future of health maintenance organizations is becoming more apparent with each passing day. HMOs will continue to grow, but there are going to be winners and losers among them.

The winners will be the ones that recognize that people are busier than ever and won't tolerate long waits and that people are growing to expect much better service than they did in the past. The losers will be the ones that don't recognize these trends.

Of course people want the best clinical treatment, but the HMO or physician group that provides fine clinical care and ignores other issues is sure to be among the losers. Among these other issues are:

Access: Can someone get an appointment to see the doctor without waiting weeks or even months? Survey after survey confirms the importance of being able to see a doctor when the patient feels it's necessary.

Time: If the doctor is running an hour late for whatever reason, does the office staff call the patient and advise him or her to arrive later? Time is as valuable to the patient as it is to the doctor.

The doctor: Does the doctor have a friendly and warm bedside manner? Did he or she take the trouble to read your chart before seeing you? Is the doctor willing to listen to the reasons why you're there in the first place and to ask and answer questions during your visit? Does the doctor, in layman's terms, adequately explain the course of treatment and the reasons for it?

The staff: Is the office staff friendly and eager to please? Do they call the next day to find out how you're feeling? Do they respond promptly to your requests when you call in and relay them to the doctor to get you the answers?

The haughty, self-important doctor is going to find himself with a disappearing clientele, in much the same manner as a department store that continues to offer merchandise that the marketplace has firmly rejected.

There was a time when patients of HMOs felt they were stuck with a doctor, whether they liked him or not. Today, patients are realizing that they are customers, customers who supply the doctor's income.

And, just like the customers of the department store that no longer gives them what they want, the doctor's patients will surely be among the losers.

Rules helpful in getting through dental emergencies

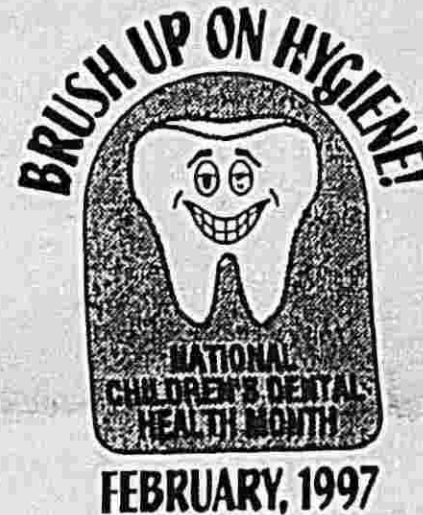

No one can predict a dental emergency. They are by definition, an unexpected event. When your child needs urgent dental care, your pediatric dentist is ready to help. By following a few simple rules of thumb you can work your way through most dental emergencies.

Critical

First and foremost, remain calm. If your child has knocked out a permanent tooth, time is a critical factor. Find the tooth. Handle it by the top (crown) of the tooth, not the root. You may rinse the tooth gently in cool water. Do not scrub or clean it with soap, just use with gauze or a clean wash cloth. If you cannot do this, put the tooth in a container with milk, saliva, or water. Call your dentist immediately! If it is after hours use their emergency number. Time is critical.

If the tooth is cracked or chipped, but not knocked out, time is also critical. Contact your dentist. Rinse the mouth with water and apply cold compresses over the area of the injury. If possible find and bring with any fragments of the tooth.

When a child suffers a blow to the head and a fractured jaw is suspect, keep the jaw from moving by using a towel, tie or handkerchief. Then take the child to the nearest emergency room. A blow to the head can be life threatening.

Non-critical

When your child complains of a toothache, clean the area around the sore tooth. Rinse the mouth with warm salt water or use dental floss to dislodge trapped food or debris.

If the face is swollen, apply a cold compress. Take acetaminophen (Tylenol) for pain and see your dentist as soon as possible. Do not put heat or an aspirin on the gums or on the aching tooth.

Children sometimes cut or bite their tongue, lips or cheeks. If there is bleeding, apply firm but gentle pressure with a clean gauze or cloth. If bleeding cannot be controlled by simple pressure or does not stop after 15 minutes, take the child to a dentist or emergency room.

Many children occasionally suffer from cold or canker sores. Usually over-the-counter preparations give relief. These sores run their course in seven to 10 days without any treatment. Avoidance of spicy or salty foods is also a good idea when these sores are present.

When a baby tooth falls out there is always a small amount of bleeding. The easiest way to stop the bleeding is to have the child bite on folded up clean gauze for about 15 minutes.

Whenever your child is involved in an activity with a risk of falls or of head contact a mouth guard is a must. They protect not just the teeth, but the lips, cheeks and tongue from injury.

Remember, any mouth guard works better than none, but try to choose one that fits comfortably. If a mouth guard is not comfortable it is most likely your child will not wear it.

Crop Hunger Walk benefits 13 Lake County agencies

Thirteen Lake County agencies will benefit from the efforts of the more than 960 walkers in last October's Crop Hunger Walk. The walkers, representing 72 area churches, schools, and synagogue, raised $81,175. Twenty-five percent Church, St. Anastasia Roman Catholic Church, Holy Family Roman Catholic Parish Breadbasket and Social Service, and Zion-Benton Food Pantry.

Crop Walk chair, the Rev. George Franke, said, "We appreciate the efforts of the walkers and their sponsors, as well as the more than 80 workers, who helped us to exceed our goal of $80,000." Franke said that the Northern Lake County Crop Hunger Walk ranks as a "mega-walk" among the 1,900 walks across the country, ranking 10th in money raised. He said, "This walk is an interfaith effort, drawing people from a variety of religious and cultural backgrounds to walk together, side by side, in a symbolic 10k walkathon, to benefit the hungry and disaster-stricken." The other 75 percent of the money is put to work by Church World Service to aid persons across the USA and the world who are victims of disasters and hunger.

Plans are underway for the 1997 walk on Sunday, Oct. 19. Goals are set at $90,000, 1,100 walkers, and 80 organizations.

Interested persons may contact Franke at 336-7983.

of that amount ($20,293) will be returned to the Crop Hunger Walk of Northern Lake County for distribution to agencies which provide assistance to the hungry and homeless: A Safe Place, Christ Episcopal Church, PADS, Project Care of Emmanuel United Methodist Church, COOL Food Pantry, First United Methodist Church, Salvation Army Food Pantry, SHARE/Food, Shiloh Baptist

March 3-9 is Juvenile Arthritis Awareness Week

Arthritis affects 285,000 children

March 3 through 9 is Juvenile Arthritis Awareness Week, and during this week the Arthritis Foundation is launching a nationwide educational campaign to tell America that Kids Get Arthritis, Too.

According to the foundation, if a child avoids using a particular limb, shows signs of stiffness or complains about aching joints, it may not be just growing pains—it may be arthritis. Juvenile arthritis (JA) is a painful, sometimes debilitating condition that affects as many as 285,000 American children. But with early diagnosis and proper support, children and their families can learn to cope with JA and enjoy a full range of activities.

"People don't expect to see arthritis in young adults, much less in children," said Doyt Conn, MD, senior vice president, medical affairs, for the Arthritis Foundation. "But the fact is that no one is immune to it. Many younger people and their families must cope with the significant impact of daily arthritis pain. And although growing up with arthritis is tough, growing up with arthritis is even tougher."

According to Conn, a child who has arthritis might find climbing steps, throwing a ball, opening a door or even walking very difficult or impossible.

Along with the pain, arthritis brings fatigue. Some children may have difficulties at school or with the rigorous activities of a field trip. Arthritis can be worse on some days than on others, flaring up when least expected.

Using the theme Kids Get Arthritis, Too, the Arthritis Foundation's week-long awareness efforts will focus on elementary, junior high and high schools by offering a variety of programs, including lesson plans for teachers and an educational coloring book for younger children.

"Sometimes it's difficult for parents, teachers and schoolmates to come to grips with the special challenges faced by young people who have arthritis," Conn said. "But these problems are very real and very painful even if there are no outward signs of the illness, as is frequently the case. This is why education and awareness are so important."

The good news is that the outlook for children with JA is optimistic, even though there is no cure. Early diagnosis and proper treatment can go a long way in preventing significant disability in later years.

For free information about JA and a "Pen Pal" application, contact your local Arthritis Foundation chapter at (312)616-3470.

The Arthritis Foundation is the source of help and hope for the nearly 40 million Americans who have arthritis. The foundation supports research to find ways to cure and prevent arthritis diseases, and seeks to improve the quality of life for those affected by arthritis.

HEALTH BRIEFS

Combining career and parenthood

"Working Parents' Dilemma: Combining Career and Parenthood," will be presented on Wednesday, March 5, from 7 to 8:30 p.m., in meeting room 1A of the Education Center at Highland Park Hospital, 718 Glenview Ave. The discussion, to be led by Highland Park Hospital psychiatrist Phyllis Leoff, MD., and social worker Marcia Grayson, LCSW, is part of the "Parenting in the '90s" lecture series in the hospital's Parent-Infant-Sibling Program. The ongoing series focuses on the unique issues involved in raising a new or growing family. Lectures are free and advance registration is required. For additional information, call 480-2626.

Classes for back pain continue

A class titled "Back Into Action: The Feldenkrais Method" will continue at Gorton Community Center, 400 E. Illinois Rd., Lake Forest, beginning March 5 from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. for single sessions or a series of four weeks. Innovative lessons, taught by Cheryl Becker, certified Feldenkrais Method practitioner, show all how to "get back" into action with easy ways to reduce stress, stiffness, aches, and become more flexible. The fee for the course is $50, or $15 each week. Classes run on an ongoing basis. Interested participants should register and be paid in advance. For further information, or to receive a brochure, call 234-6060.

Spanish childbirth education offered

Registration is now open for a new Spanish childbirth education class announced by The New Life Center at Condell Medical Center, 801 S. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville. The first session will be held Saturday, May 10, in the Allen Conference Center at 700 Garfield Ave., located on Condell's main campus. Members of The New Life Center Staff, Sheree Fitzgerald, RN, and Zoila Plumbley, CNA, will teach the class in Spanish.

To register, call 362-2905, ext. 5407. There will be a message in Spanish and a Spanish-speaking nurse will call back.

The one-day class is designed for expectant couples finding a six-week session difficult to attend. It will prepare the couple for a birth at Condell's New Life Center and include instruction on the Gamper method, relaxation techniques, labor, C-section, infant care, and postpartum.

Participants will view a birth and C-section video, exercise, and hear lectures from the team of Gamper instructors. During the lunch break, participants will be able to browse through a "mini" fair featuring local merchants and vendors. The day will conclude with a tour of The New Life Center.

YOUR EYES

by Charlotte F. Nielsen O.D.

Nature recognizes the extreme importance of our eyes to our very existence. A very elaborate protection system for our eyes comes to us by the courtesy of Mother Nature. First, our eyes are located in shielded recesses of our skulls, where there is minimum danger of being struck.

Our eyelids close quickly to prevent harmful things from reaching the eyeball. Also, the blinking of the lids, three to six times each minute, keeps the eyeball moistened and prevents friction. Tears flow constantly to keep the eyes flushed clean. The tears actually have an antiseptic quality to fight infection.

Nature does, however, allow advancing years to impair our vision. If your vision is less than perfect, have your eyes examined soon. In most cases, good vision can be restored. Call for an appointment.

Parents should act now to meet new state immunization law

Why would parents start thinking about their child's next school year in February? If the child starts fifth grade next year, a new law regarding immunizations will directly affect him or her.

Under new state requirements, all children entering the fifth grade in the fall of 1997 will be required to have received three doses of the hepatitis B vaccine. Because health officials recommend that the first two doses be given at least four weeks apart, and the third at least four months after the first, the complete series will take between four to five months.

Therefore, parents should begin to take their children for immunizations now.

"If parents wait too long, they may have a difficult time scheduling doctor's appointments, or face long lines at the clinics, and run the risk of having their children excluded from school until the immunization series is complete," state Dale Galassie, executive director of the Lake County Health Dept. Galassie pointed out that, while summers are normally busy with parents making sure their children are up to date with immunizations, this one will be exceptionally so because of the new law.

"We are already seeing an increase in the number of people attending our clinics compared to last year at this time because of the new law," he explained.

To assist parents who don't have regular physicians, the Lake County Health Dept., in conjunction with the Lake County Community Health Partnership, offers ongoing immunization clinics at the following locations:

- American Legion Hall, 111 E. Main St., (Rte. 134) Round Lake Park on the second Wednesday of each month from 9 to 11 a.m. Call 360-3114.

Rte. 137, North Chicago the fourth Tuesday of each month from 4 to 6 p.m. Call 578-3714.

- St. Therese Medical Center, 2615 Washington St., Waukegan the fourth Wednesday of each month, from 4 to 6 p.m. Call 249-3900.

- VFW Post 4551, 75 N. Avenue, Antioch, the third Wednesday of each month from 9 to 11 a.m. Call 360-3114.

- Victory Memorial Hospital, 134 N. Sheridan Rd., Waukegan the third Tuesday of each month from 9 to 11 a.m. Call 360-4246.

Hepatitis B is an inflammation of the liver caused by a virus. It is spread by direct contact with blood or other body fluids of infected people.

Although most cases are not serious, up to 10 percent become chronic and can lead to liver cancer and death. It is largely preventable with the vaccine.

For more information on the hepatitis B vaccine, or on immunization clinics, call the Lake County Health Dept. Immunization Program at 360-3114.

Victory supports HealthReach Clinic

Dr. John Curns, president of the HealthReach Board of Directors, and Dan Rodriguez, executive director, received a $12,000 donation from the Victory Hospital Foundation. This donation results from the combined efforts of the 1996 Chef Cuisine Benefit and the Victory Hospital Foundation Board of Directors.

"We're pleased to support the good work that is being done for the people of Lake County at the clinic," said Tim Harrington, Victory Memorial Hospital president, as he presented Dr. Curns with the donation check.

The HealthReach Clinic, located at 201 Liberty St., Waukegan, provides healthcare services for the medically underserved population of Lake County. Over 4,000 people of all ages were seen by the clinic in 1996. The total value of care provided to HealthReach patients during the past year was over $1,581,100. This includes services donated by area hospitals like Victory Memorial and Lake County physicians.

A parent's experience and warning to other parents

Dear Dr. Singer,

A few weeks back, I read a column you wrote on Childhood Depression and wanted to share with you and your readers just how insidious and serious that disorder can really be. Sometimes it's hard for a parent to tell what needs real help and what doesn't. You don't want to rush right in and solve every problem your child has, but at taking the form of getting involved with kids who were into music that promoted suicide and did behaviors that were very self-destructive. The day that I finally called a therapist and got my son into treatment, was the day that I found a note in his room that appeared to have been written by him. This note was also glorifying suicide. When I confronted him on it, he swore that it was

Get your child in to see someone as soon as you see it so that it can be handled early and fast. So you can learn how to directly communicate with your child so he doesn't face more trouble than he needs to. My son is lucky because we grabbed him off the edge of the cliff. Some of our friends' kids have not been so lucky. Some things are harder to pull kids out of. Our son is doing much better now and he really likes his therapist. I hope this helps parents prevent things for their own kids. Also, thanks Dr. Singer, for writing that column. It was very informative.
Signed, Back from the edge.

sign that it is more than they think they can handle. Especially if there is anything self-destructive getting said or done.

Also, with regards to what you mentioned about not wanting to ask your child about the problem, many parents worry that they will suggest something to the child by asking. That is a myth that we need to dispel. Asking usually brings out what is on the child's mind to begin with. Mostly, this takes the form of being afraid to ask about suicidal thoughts for fear that this will tell the child to follow through on something like that. If you communicate that you care and will do whatever necessary to get the help needed, it usually makes the person feel a lot better and safer. In my experience, people of all ages who are feeling that way are relieved to have been asked because someone actually noticed that they were feeling bad.

The other thing is that if the person has a plan for how to do this, I always believe it to be better to uncover that plan and do whatever necessary to prevent it than to wait and guess and be too late. If someone says to you that they have been thinking of it, than it's, most likely, not your asking that has caused it. In general, if you are ever afraid that someone close to you is thinking this way, and in imminent danger, the best thing to do is to get them in immediately to an emergency room to be evaluated. A treatment plan will be devised there for future therapy. If you feel that the signs of depression are there, but it is not at the point of imminent danger, you can arrange private therapy yourself, but I would suggest it be done sooner than later.

Three important notes:

If asking your child about suicidal intent, I would not use the word "suicide," as many kids might not know it that way. You don't want to miss something because your child doesn't know that word. It's better to ask if the person feels like hurting him or herself in any way or has a plan for how to do that. If the answer is "yes," you need to get to an emergency room for some help. If the answer is, "no," and you believe otherwise, still go to the emergency room. If your child is having only mild problems and says "no," and can tell you why it's important not to, you should be OK to set up private therapy. Use your better judgment. If you think that your child is seriously depressed, just make sure to be aware of other signs or anything unusual and react directly and quickly instead of waiting.

I have had many parents come into my office and claim that this type of thing is done only for attention. That may be true in some cases, however, I say very directly, that whatever it is being done for, it needs to be responded to quickly and efficiently. If a trip to the emergency room happens because of a statement like this and the statement was being used by the child to get something the child wanted, the child learned a powerful lesson about how seriously his or her parents take that topic and statement. If the child is really meaning it, than the emergency room is appropriate. Either way, it was useful. Whether it's for attention or not, it needs to be handled and not ignored. Better safe than sorry!

If you believe your child is in imminent danger of hurting him or herself and are delayed in being able to get to an emergency room, another thing that many parents I know have done in the meantime, is to make sure that there is nothing in your house that is accessible to use for this purpose. Taking those items and putting them in safe storage for the time being can prevent a problem.

the same time, you worry about them so much!

My child is 11 and for years, I think I had been seeing signs of depression, but always explained it away as a stage he was going through. I figured that the last thing he wanted me to do was ask about it. I also figured that based on his age, maybe he was becoming a teenager sooner than normal and was maybe moody.

His depression started out as looking like "down moods" fairly often, but quickly turned into something else. This "something else" showed up in all kinds of belligerent behavior, falling grades, misbehaving and a general sour outlook on everything. My problem was that I didn't realize that depression could take that form. I always looked for the lethargic, passive, sad depression. I want the parents who read this column to know that misbehavior can also be depression.

I was mad at this child for the behavior and I was also afraid to ask this child about what was behind this, but didn't think it would get serious since our family is so mainstream normal. The long and the short of this is that my child's depression became fairly serious over a short time and ended up all the other behavior occurring for such a long time, it was time to do something now, before it would be too late for him.

We got into therapy, even though we have pretty much always been a "non-therapy- do-it-yourself," type of family. Within a short period of time, our child was talking about feelings we truly never knew he had. It was interesting because he shared that the bands he was listening to scared the daylight out of him and the only reason he was listening to them is because they "seemed to understand how he felt." This was chilling to me. This was also a very eye opening experience and the reason I wrote it to you is because I see a lot of my colleagues at work and friends who take the same attitude and approach that I used to take. Namely, that nothing like that would ever happen to my child. The truth is that it does happen and it can happen fast and without notice. Kids don't know how to tell parents a lot of the time, what is happening in their lives. I think a lot of the time, they aren't even sure of what is happening to them and they just react.

Parents, if you see any signs of weird behavior or problems, don't get fooled by thinking it's a stage.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

Romance is fun and exciting this week, Aries. Clearly it's what keeps the hop in your step. Don't shy away from new opportunities. Take time out of your busy schedule to get to know somebody new. Don't think serious. Think fun. Then, sit back, and enjoy the wonder that every day brings.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

If you have been edgy and uncomfortable around others, this is a good week to set aside time to figure things out. Work on your people skills. There's no better place to start than at home. When family members challenge your patience, take a deep breath, sit back, and roll with it.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

This week, you'll find extra time to catch up on chores. Don't waste it away. You face your worst enemy Tuesday and Wednesday: downtime at work. Stay focused on smaller projects, even some you may deem unimportant. Remember, there are no small roles, only small actors.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

Have a case of the midwinter blues? Stop hiding in the house, and have some fun. Outdoor activity will warm you up this week. Make sure the rest of your body joins you. Think ski resorts, ice-skating rinks, even building snowmen. A Libra has good news on Friday.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Money is tight this week, Leo. Watch your spending. Tired of trying to figure out your life's mission? Relax and roll with the punches. You know, you don't always have to have all the answers. A female Capricorn friend looks to you for romantic advice. Practice patience.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

Looking for a new job? Try especially hard this week to not let new opportunities scare you off. Know your skills, and learn their value. Read the paper, call your contacts, and see what else is out there. You never know. Your dream job could be at the end of your phone line.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Use this week wisely, Libra. Study your romantic relationship carefully, and figure out what's missing. Are you and your partner making equal efforts? Now is not the time to be lazy or to show your flirtatious side to gain security. You have to stop depending on others to make you feel good about yourself; it's time you take this job on yourself.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

It's a busy week for you, Scorpio, and you'll find little time to even breathe. That's OK. A busy routine equals happiness for you. A new project at work has you perplexed Monday and Tuesday, but by Friday, you are left with nothing but sheer satisfaction and relief.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

Put some movies on your calendar this week, Sagittarius. Lately, you seem to have let others' favorite things get in the way of your own. At home, it's best to keep your guard up. Tension on the home front is good incentive for a weekend get-away. Make the most of it.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

Settle down, and focus this week, Capricorn. Colleagues are depending on you to get the job done — and to get it done fast. But distractions are hard for you to pass up. Making the most of your time will only work to your benefit. Don't forget details. Your superiors are watching.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

A social event on Saturday has you confused. It seems as though your close friends always have other plans. Still, Saturday presents a good opportunity to make new acquaintances and even some business contacts. Don't pass it up on your friends' busy schedules.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

You're called upon for many decisions this week, Pisces. A romantic partner is feeling neglected, and you'll be asked to think hard about what's important to you. Do it. You need to know for your own well-being, too. A letter from a friend brings surprising news.

What does high blood pressure really mean?

Good Shepherd Hospital provides answers

If you're like most people, you have your blood pressure checked at least once a year—and more often if you're in a high risk group. But do you really know what the numbers mean? Good Shepherd Hospital, Barrington, offers the following tips for understanding your blood pressure readings.

Measurement of the pressure is expressed as a fraction such as 120/80, stated as "120 over 80." The top number is the systolic pressure, or the pressure within arteries when the heart is pumping. The lower number is the diastolic pressure, or the pressure in the arteries when the heart is resting between beats.

Blood pressure fluctuates frequently—even minute to minute. It is influenced by activity, emotions, fluid retention and exercise. As a result, a diagnosis of hypertension is usually based on several elevated readings. However, if left untreated, hypertension can damage the muscles of the heart and increase the risk of heart attack, stroke and kidney disease.

"There may be no hint that you have high blood pressure," said Rosie Jeretina, coordinator of Good Shepherd's cardiac rehabilitation program. "It is often found when you visit your doctor for another reason or during a routine exam. Hypertension, because it usually has no symptoms, is known as the silent killer."

Jeretina added that the first sign of elevated blood pressure may be a heart attack or stroke. "People sometimes think that a ruddy complexion and a quick temper are signs of high blood pressure, but that is a myth," she said.

So what can you do to keep your blood pressure within a normal range? Many cases can be prevented altogether by making simple changes in diet and lifestyle. Jeretina recommends that following:

- Maintain a healthy weight—a diet with no more than 30 percent of calories from fat helps reduce blood cholesterol levels, which contributes to heart disease.

- Avoid excessive alcohol—alcohol or other recreational drugs often increase blood pressure.

- Quit smoking or tobacco use—Nicotine triggers the body to release adrenaline, which constricts blood vessels and raises pressure.

- Exercise regularly—Regular activity helps reduce stress, burn excess calories and strengthen the heart and circulatory system.

- Reduce chronic stress—When you relax, your heart rate slows and body tissues require less oxygen.

- Control diabetes—If you have uncontrollable blood sugar, it increases the risk of complications from high blood pressure, such as heart attack or stroke.

- Cut down on salty foods.

A variety of medications also are available to help control hypertension if the above recommendations do not control your blood pressure.

Link legislation targets deadbeat parents

'New Hire' reporting policy would streamline collection

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

When Terry Link's Republican opponents in the November general election accused him of being a "deadbeat dad" they said it would affect his judgment in Springfield. Today, Senator Link agrees the accusations are in part what caused him to co-sponsor legislation aimed at stepping up child support collection efforts in Illinois.

"The bill is really for deadbeat parents," said Link. "It applies to both moms and dads who are not providing adequate support payments for their non-custodial children."

Link says while some progress has been made on making non-custodial parents pay child support, there are still thousands of children in Illinois who are suffering because of a lack of child support.

"Ultimately, the burden for taking care of these children falls on the taxpayers. We're trying to streamline the process and find those people without unduly burdening the business community. This bill is a good first step toward doing that."

Under the plan which Link is co-sponsoring with Decatur State Senator Penny Severns, employers would be required to report new hire information to the state within 20 days. Currently, employers are only required to report quarterly wage information on a new hire 30 days after the quarter in which the person was hired. The current system makes it easier for deadbeat parents to avoid location and mandatory child support payments which can be deducted from wages earned.

"Right now, deadbeat parents could switch jobs twice in a year and successfully avoid getting caught," Link said.

"Under this plan, they would have to switch jobs at least 12 times to be successful. That's not really feasible for someone, and it wouldn't leave a very promising future for them either."

Other provisions contained in the measure include:

- A requirement that Link the Department of Employment Security (IDES) maintain a database containing the new hire information for a period of three years, and that the information be made available to Department of Public Aid and Human Services, clerks of the circuit court and pertinent federal offices.

- A requirement that a toll-free telephone line be established by IDES for new hire reporting and that public service announcements and mailings be issued to employers informing them about new hire policies and procedures;

- The establishment of a com-

Citizens launch petition drive to fight Arrow Lake development

Want Army Corps to withhold development permits

JEFF PATERSON

Staff Reporter

Opponents of the Arrow Lake housing development are not giving up now that approval for the project has been granted by Round Lake. A petition campaign has been started to ask authorities to withhold development permits for the 1,800 plus housing development.

The campaign is being spearheaded by Long Lake resident Suzanne Harris. She and Kim Eudy, fellow co-chair of the citizen's group Impact Coalition of Western Lake County have been concerned by residential development which could reduce natural water retention upstream from their homes.

In order to reverse this trend, Harris has started circulating petitions asking that the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers not issue nation-wide permits to either the Arrow Lake development, southwest of the corner of Fairfield and Route 134, and/or the nearby Brooks Farm developments.

"What we're trying to do is the only thing that is left to withhold getting into litigation," Harris said. "The problem with the Pritzker property (development) is the Village of Round Lake cannot guarantee us that they will not flood us, because we don't have a drainage model done."

Although the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission is undertaking such a study for the Squaw Creek Drain, it will not be complete until 1999, when most development permits will already be in place.

In not waiting for the completion of that study before issuing approval for Arrow Lake, Harris indicated that the village was continuing to move away from the previous findings of state agencies indicating that development around natural water retention areas should be limited.

"One of the things that was done in the Northern Illinois Planning Commission's water quality report of '94 and '95, was to discuss densities within water sheds," she said. "They came to the realization that we have to change the way we develop the land; that in those watersheds that are large, you should have more area for run-off to occur."

NICASA's Teen Court receives state grant

Illinois Gov. Jim Edgar has awarded a $32,000 grant to Teen Court programs administered by the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASA) in Warren Township and Lake Forest/Lake Bluff.

Edgar said nearly $800,000 in grants went to help 60 community-based groups throughout the state to develop youth programs to prevent crime and drug abuse.

"Over the years we've toughened penalties for drug dealers and cracked down on users," Edgar said. "But we must also continue to help communities develop anti-drug programs which focus on the needs of youth and families."

Teen Court, a diversionary program for first-time, non-violent juvenile misdemeanor offenders, was initially developed for the Round Lake area and has since expanded to Warren Township and Lake See TEEN COURT page C2

Arrow Lake

Yet in looking at developments proposed for the Pritzker parcel and Nybo's (Brooks Farm), Harris has found that the recent trend has been to encroach wetlands and water retaining areas.

"What you're seeing is actually more development in those areas that should be left for open space," Harris said. "If you look around where the key developments are, you find they are in the flood-prone areas."

In the case of the Pritzker Arrow Lake development, Harris said that frustration set in for herself and other residents downstream when the Village of Round Lake chose to ignore the recommendation of its own Planning Commission to limit development to two units per buildable acre or approximately 1,000 units, instead of the 1,828 units now called for.

The present density is 4.5 units per buildable acre, consistent with the Planned Unit Development approved by the village. That does not include the 456 acres called for to be left as open space.

Noting past attempts to curb development in flood areas, Harris termed it "a rude truth" that she found government agencies which have mandates to preserve wetland areas, such as the Illinois Department of Natural Resources, are not regulatory. Furthermore, Harris found that those agencies which are regulatory, such as Federal Emergency Management Association and the Environmental Protection Agency, have mandates to interfere in development only when a problem has already occurred.

"The key question in why we're asking for the Army Corps not to issue any permits is that, if we can save any depressional storage areas that are natural, that will help us curb the flooding problem," Harris said.

Noting that this is the first winter in several years with normal snowfall and precipitation rates, Harris is concerned that the 350-acre lake on which she lives must continue to be a drainage basin for 24,000 acres of land upstream, half of it wetland, while natural water retention areas continue to be encroached.

"We cannot tell a village what to do," she said. "All we can ask is that village not impact adjacent property owners and their neighbors adversely and this is going to impact us adversely."

Commenting on some of the points raised by Harris, Round Lake Building Commissioner Ray Wolfel indicated that further elaboration was needed.

Wolfel agreed that the Squaw Creek Study would not likely be completed until before permits were in place. He added, however, that the County had estimated development impact and had recommended reduced water release rate guidelines to expedite the development. He added that the village plans to hold developers to these guidelines when they make applications for final plat approval.

"We really didn't have a choice; you can't say (to developers) 'go away and come back two years later'," Wolfel said.

On the subject of unit density recommended by the Planning Commission, Wolfel said that the only change recommended by the Commission from the original proposal was a reduction in the total number of units from 1,828 to 1,813. He said that perhaps Harris recalled the figure of two units per acre from one of the tentative public hearings, but that it was never a directive from the Planning Board.

Regarding the unit per buildable acre density, Wolfel said that

"that figure doesn't really mean very much," adding that the calculation for the townhouse development could include or omit such elements as streets, parks and space between homes.

"That's why, between the village and county, no one's net density (calculation) is ever the same," Wolfel said.

Harris said that, so far, the petition campaign was going well with estimated signatures numbering more than 1,000 and with petition forms being available at the Grant Township Office. Petition forms are also available by contacting Grant Township Trustee Mike Francis at 546-4466 or Mary Ann Amann at 740-4667. She added that the Impact Coalition plans to submit its petitions to the Army Corps of Engineers in April.

munity advisory committee to oversee the implementation of the new hire policy.

"The task force estimated that we could increase collections in Illinois by at least $30 million and save more than $25 million in welfare and unemployment expenditures," Link said. "While this isn't the whole answer, it is a very good step toward holding deadbeat parents more accountable for their actions."

Link says he will continue looking at other methods of improving child support collection in Illinois.

"I understand that these situations are often very complicated and difficult; and to be sure, we're not targeting people who are trying to the best of their ability to meet their obligations," he said. "However, the bottom line is that it's the children who should receive the ultimate consideration, and there is no question that unpaid child support imposes tremendous costs on children and families in our society—emotional, financial and social cost. I want to continue to work toward solving this serious problem."

Severns served on the Child Support Enforcement Task Force which was created in 1996 to develop recommendations for implementing a federally mandated New Hire Directory by October 1, 1997.

The Severns-Link bill (SB 1024) now awaits a hearing by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Forest/Lake Bluff.

Julie Pawl Schwarzbach, director of special projects of NICASA said Teen Court was designed to prevent recidivism in juvenile crime by teaching the young offenders accountability and responsibility for their actions. Through Teen Court, a juvenile offender is brought to a jury of his/her peers who will "try" the case and issue a "sentence." Sentencing is in the form of community service and a referral to an educational program.

Edgar said the recent grants were provided by the Community Crime and Substance Abuse Prevention Initiative, through funding from the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority and the Illinois Department of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse.

Dispatcher helps deliver baby

LAKE ZURICH—A police dispatcher relayed instructions to an expectant father as he assisted his wife in delivering their third child.

Lake Zurich Police Telecommunicator Annie Alo was expecting another emergency call related to the weather the morning of Feb. 21 when she heard Jan Somers say she was in labor and needed help.

Her husband, Mark Somers, quickly picked up the phone receiver after having just dropped off their other two children at school and preschool.

Jan & Bryan Somers

Asking questions included in the telecommunicators Emergency Medical Dispatcher Procedural, every answer Alo received prompted another question.

Two minutes after Somers called 911 she delivered a healthy baby boy, weighing 8 pounds, 4 ounces, and 21 inches long. He has been named Bryan.

As the father turned around with the baby in his hands, a Lake Zurich Firefighter/Paramedic was in the doorway, ready to take over.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Dairy may be commuter site

GURNEE—A site which was once known for the shipment of milk to and from Chicago and Milwaukee may be the site of Gurnee's future commuter rail station.

The Bowman Dairy site's future use includes the potential for a Metra commuter station and additional land for the Gurnee Public Works Dept. A report on the site's options was presented to Gurnee trustees by architect Dan Robison.

He presented five options, some including use of present buildings at the Kilbourne Road location while others include tearing them down. Further discussion is expected when trustees discuss the budget for 1997-98 at hearings next month.

The 6-acre site could include parking for up to 450 vehicles. The typical Metra stations have capacities of more than 1,000 vehicles.—by STEVE PETERSON

Crisis area gets the all-clear

LIBERTYVILLE—Business owners in downtown Libertyville are battling rumors and misinformation that seems to be spreading faster than fumes from an ammonia leak Feb. 21.

An area along Milwaukee Avenue from Church Street to Winchester Road was cordoned off and evacuated for six hours, causing the loss of thousands of dollars in business to area retailers.

"Everybody wants to blame somebody," said Jim Allen, owner of the Town Meat Market which is located in the front of the building that houses Lake County Seafood where the mishap occurred. But Allen was philosophical about the weekend crisis.

"It was just one of those things that happened," he said. "Everything's back to normal and we're open."

Inspectors and firefighters have determined the leak was caused by mechanical failure when a gas-ket broke. The area has been declared safe.—by SUZIE REED

Flooding hits northern areas

NORTH LAKE COUNTY—Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst all reported flooding from the Feb. 21 rains.

Antioch only had one street, the intersection of Trevor Road and North Avenue which experienced severe flooding, according to Joe Huber, street superintendent.

Residents in the Oak Knoll area, and business in low lying areas along Grand Avenue such as Nutties and Lakeland Auto Body were effected, according to Glenn McCollum, public works superintendent.

Several basements were flooded and backed up with sewage as well.

Residents along Lindenhurst Drive, Woodlane Drive and Fairfield Road were the most impacted. There was basement flooding and these streets were closed until the water level dropped, according to Wes Welch, village engineer. by ALEC JUNG

Winter storm a real turn-off

MUNDELEIN—Although public works crews kept sewers, drains and basins clear enough to handle almost 3 1/2 inches of rain Feb. 21, there was nothing they could do about the power outages that left many homes with wet basements.

The drenching on top of melting snow was too much for battery-powered sump pumps as phones began ringing at insurance agencies and restoration companies early in the morning.

According to Ken Miller, director of the Mundelein Public Works Department, about 1,500 homes experienced a power loss that lasted anywhere from 2 to 10 hours.

A section of Courtland Avenue from Seymour to east of the railroad viaduct was closed for a time because of flooding.—by SUZIE REED

Food trend setting up shop

GRAYSLAKE—Grayslake's first fast food restaurant, Hardee's closed its doors for good a few months ago but now another first is coming to Grayslake. A Taco Bell/Pizza Hut Express, the first of its kind in the state is to be built in town.

The Taco Bell/Pizza Hut Express will consist of a full service eat in Taco Bell and a drive through Pizza Hut, combined in one building.

The village board voted to approve the zoning changes needed to build the restaurant on Route 83 to the south of the Intrupa Manufacturing building. The zoning classification was previously limited industry and was changed to general business to allow the restaurant to be operated in that area.

The developers NJB Operations will now have to submit their plans to the village for approval.—by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Dist. 116 considers dress code

ROUND LAKE—Parents of children in Round Lake School District 116 will be given the chance to express their views on the idea of regulating students' dress for school following the district board's review of a pilot survey done at Murphy school.

A survey of the parents of 700 Murphy students was conducted in January to measure support for the idea of school uniforms, with a result of approximately two-thirds of 300 parents approving the measure. At its meeting of Feb. 20, the District Board of Education considered modifying and expanding that survey to measure district support for a dress code.

Board Trustee James Hult indicated he remained convinced that if not uniforms, a school dress code could help reduce gang-related problems within schools and also reduce pressures on students and parents to keep up with the latest school fashion trends.

He added that, through the use of spirit days or "dress-down" days, such a code would not spell the end of individual expression.—by JEFF PATERSON

Bravissimo: Hail new arts center

The performing arts soon will have a new venue that will have an immediate impact on Lake County culture.

A two-week long festival running March 7-20 has been scheduled to inaugurate the Instructional Arts Building at the College of Lake County, Grayslake campus. The introductory series is entitled appropriately, "Bravissimo!"

All phases of the new building marked by an imposing glass rotunda-type entry will be put to use immediately. That includes three theaters with a range of different seating designed to fit different performances, instructional areas and technical support facilities.

The CLC Foundation has reserved the Mainstage Theatre Saturday, March 15, for a black tie gala that will benefit the foundation's capital campaign. Actor-musician Dudley Moore will appear with the Lake Forest Symphony. An auspicious high point for a memorable introduction. What else is there to say?

Bravissimo!

PADS expansion raises question

After 10 years of providing emergency overnight shelter for the homeless, Lake County PADS (Public Action to Deliver Shelter) is expanding in a new direction.

PADS, operating at more than a dozen sites around the county, has been awarded a grant from the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development totalling $916,440 to help establish a permanent transitional housing facility.

With $400,000 of the grant going for acquisition of a building, PADS will be obligated to raise a matching $400,000 for the project designed to accommodate 20 adults for periods up to a year. An array of social services will be added such as drug treatment and job training.

The overnight shelter program operating with community volunteers usually in a church basement has been eminently successful. With the prospect of adding a menu of duplicative social services, we can't help but wonder if the original purpose of providing overnight shelter and a hot meal during the winter months will be negated?

Early flood peril foretold this year

A mid-winter warm spell last week coupled with a period of rain-drizzle-snow produced wide-spread pockets of flooding. The result was an ominous forecast of things to come. What's going to happen when the genuine spring thaw arrives?

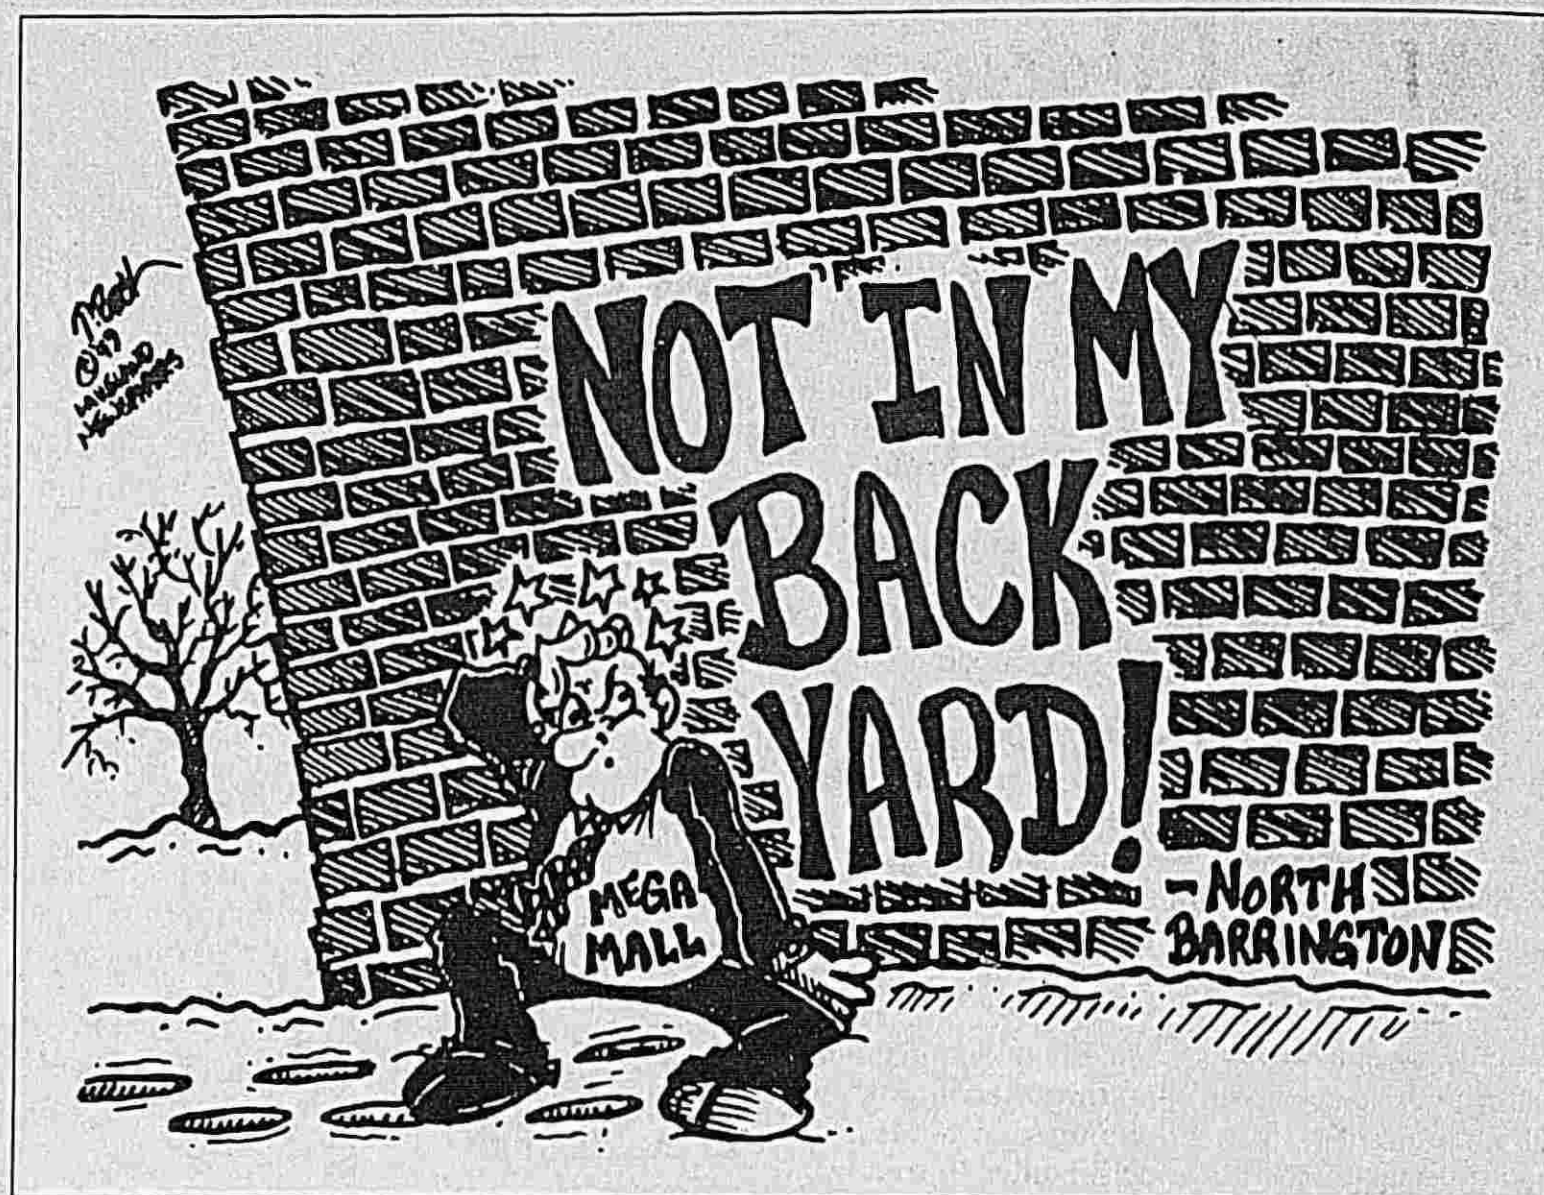

The answer to that question seems almost too simple to legitimize with a reasonable answer. There'll be REAL flooding, of course! Yet Lake County's ever present flooding peril goes ignored—until the water starts rising.

The flood script ran pretty much true to form. Grand Ave., Gurnee; Rte. 41, Lake Bluff; Hawley St., Mundelein; DesPlaines River, North Libertyville Estates; Chain O'Lakes. Other areas reporting flooding included Waukegan, Wildwood, Round Lake and Lake Zurich. Reminiscent of the famous line "Round up the usual suspects" from an old movie, the Lake County response to flooding is, "Check the usual places."

When the flood waters rise, the pumps are cranked up and the sandbags are hauled out. Flood-stricken homeowners cry "help" and officials wring their hands. After the waters go down, flood plain building projects are approved and building permits are issued for lots susceptible to stormwater damage. Why, oh, why?

GOP scenario begins with gov's retirement

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Tom Roeser, an unreconstructed conservative who offers brilliant analysis on Illinois politics and matters pertaining to the Catholic Archdiocese (usually in equal proportions), has some interesting takes on the Republican scenario for 1998.

That's an election year with both the governorship and a U.S. Senate seat at stake.

From his position these days as a talk radio host, newspaper columnist and author of a private public affairs newsletter, Roeser opens with a jolt or a shocker, at least in the minds of the conventional press pundits. Roeser sees Gov. Jim Edgar not running, for governor, the U.S. Senate, or anything but safe, sensible retirement. Undefeated, as the indefatigable observer notes with emphasis.

This opens up all sorts of possibilities for ambitious GOP politicians—and columnists. It should be added.

Roeser projects popular Illinois Sec. of State George Ryan for the GOP nomination for governor. Everything else flows pretty nicely from this juncture.

Based on the gospel according to Roeser, Judy Baar Topinka, whom he describes as "a populist, accordion-playing, polka dancing, non-patrician ethnic," running for lieutenant governor with Ryan. Gayle Franzen, long-time Republican functionary, steps up from chairman of the DuPage County Board to secretary of state.

Atty. Gen. Ryan runs for reelection. Roeser feels Republicans are well stocked with candidates for other major offices up next year, state treasurer, comptroller and the U.S. Senate seat.

Roeser has a distinct fondness for Al Salvi and he points out a possibility where the former legislator might run for state office instead of biding his time. Roeser, incidentally, opts for a waiting game for Salvi. Good choice.

No shortage of strong Republicans for the run against U.S. Sen. Carol Moseley-Braun, in Roeser's mind. Roeser always mentions Joseph Morris, who has made quite a record as a GOP fund raiser; State Sen. Peter Fitzgerald, who fits the Roeser conservative mold besides being independent, gutsy and well heeled, and Comptroller Loleta Didrickson, who is on everyone's Mosely-Braun challengers list these days. The ever present commentator gives a nod to Didrickson.

Roeser makes no apologies for his scenario. He says everyone is entitled to an opinion. And they are. This column is reserving a possible script, holding to the belief that at this early stage Mosely-Braun will be difficult to unseat.

TARGET—A newsletter with the unlikely name of RoadKill, made use of its winter issue fighting Rte. 53 to cut loose with both barrels against House Minority Leader Bob Churchill. Catering to Rte. 53 foes in four northeastern Illinois counties, RoadKill said Churchill "relentlessly tries to force this tollway to completion despite the obvious qualms of his own constituents." Right and wrong. Churchill has been a point man for Rte. 53 since its revival eight years ago, but he isn't worried about the opinions (if any) of his constituents, who all are located in northern Lake County, miles from the path of the proposed controversial tollway. The veteran Republican leader might have a different posture on Rte. 53 if the voters who keep him in office hailed from places like Long Grove, Hawthorn Woods and Mundelein, where Rte. 53 is akin to profanity for many citizens.

"I wouldn't expect Bob Churchill to admit that," remarked Jonites wife of a retired Chicago police officer and mother of two deputy sheriffs, "but that's the way it happened."

Jonites described the purported Churchill offer as an example of what she's up against in running for supervisor of Antioch Township, a job she says has been beholden to the Republican establishment under retiring Supervisor Jim Fields and will remain the same if Osmond is elected. Osmond's wife is manager of Churchill's local legislative office.

Good buy for district

Editor:

Lake County Forest Preserve has new-found monies in which to purchase properties lending themselves to nature and trails.

As a life-long resident of the area, I believe a perfect piece of property meeting the stated needs of the Forest Preserve is available abutting Long Lake. Known locally as the Hanson Farm property, the approximately 160 undeveloped acres in Avon Township borders on Fairfield Road, Main Street-Long Lake, and Long Lake.

The property seems to be a natural for the Forest Preserve's stated mission. Included are woods, meadows, and a marsh area with cattails. Wildlife includes animals such as deer, fox, coyote, raccoon, rabbit, squirrel, beaver and muskrat. Water fowl includes mute swan, egret, and great blue heron. Migrating birds are abundant and include coot, merganser, loon, and bufflehead.

Due to the extreme amount of building in the area, Long Lake has become a haven for wildlife and fowl. This property is one of the last remaining undeveloped sites in this part of Lake County and offers a plethora of nature's wares.

The Lake County Forest Preserve must give serious consideration to purchasing this property.

False growth prophecies

Editor:

Yes, we all know in Wauconda, that Mayor Eschenbach would like to have a mega shopping center on the northwest corner of Route 12 and Bonner Road, across from Crown Elementary School.

We know it only needs opportunity for him to start the ball rolling, with his trustworthy echoes supporting him—if he is elected again. I'm sure he'd rather we didn't mention this—his dream of his own Kingdom called Wauconda—so close to his bid for reelection, but with his fever for development we must always expect the worst scenario.

This, of course, is the real reason he wanted nothing to do with North Barrington's decision about the attempt there to foist such a cancer on them. To speak against that plan, and then give support for the same kind of lesion here, would be questionable. To support such a mall, if it was successful, might preclude having his mall here. What a dilemma for poor Mr. Eschenbach.

But, don't you voters forget what such a mega mall means. Look to Vernon Hills.

In five years developers swooped down like vultures and changed that pleasant hometown to a troubled, unsettled, divisive, noxious, crowded nightmare of urban sprawl. And Gurnee is not fit to live in. Their quality of life has plummeted and they have not found the financial relief promised them. (Observations from their own citizens.)

Don't believe these self-serving growth advocates. Shopping addicts have enough malls, reasonable close, to shop at. Vote out the threat to the Wauconda you came here for.

Tollways operate as system

Editor:

This is in response to your editorial regarding the recent ruling handed down by U.S. District Judge Suzanne Conlon concerning the south extension of Interstate 355. While your newspaper certainly has the right to voice its opinion on this matter, I found this particular editorial to be unfairly biased and factually inaccurate.

Judge Conlon's decision involves population projections and environmental concerns regarding only the proposed south extension of Interstate 355. Any inference to the ongoing Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) currently being prepared for the proposed north extension on Illinois Route 53 is incorrect. This EIS is being compiled according to strict Federal guidelines and procedures by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

Discussions on the impact of major transportation improvements on suburban growth will certainly continue to be debated in the future, however, this issue was not a subject of Judge Conlon's decision. It is important to note that the Village of Round Lake recently approved a new 1,828 home subdivision to begin construction shortly. It is this type of growth that is already occurring in Lake County that has led transportation officials to investigate the need for additional transportation corridors in this area.

Judge Conlon's decision also did not comment on the financing structure of the south extension of I-355 or the north extension of Illinois Route 53. The Illinois General Assembly has specifically directed the Tollway Authority to operate all tollroads as a system, not as individual roadways and funds from one Tollway can be used to fund projects on other portions of the tollway system.

In conclusion, the tollway has not "remained silent" on the cost recovery ratio of the possible Route 53 north extension. What we have stated is that it is too early in the process to determine either the cost or collection rate of this roadway. Any discussion on this topic is highly speculative and potentially misleading. As this data is compiled, we will certainly make it available to the public.

Commendable work

Editor:

I was inspired to hear that Wendy Tepper decided to put her hat in the ring as a candidate for Warren Township Trustee.

I felt compelled to share my knowledge of her willingness to unselfishly devote her time, efforts, and compassion on behalf of parents who are in dire need of assistance in obtaining child support.

She has assisted, by serving on our board, in positively affecting legislation on both a state and federal level on their behalf. Not only is she a champion of parents and children in need, but her efforts in securing child support also reduces the tax burden on all of use. Warren Township voters need to know the value of this person.

For or against mall

Editor:

I must express my concern over Lake Zurich's board and in particular the slow response of Mayor Vasels in addressing the impact of the proposed North Barrington mall by the Taubman group.

Mayor Vasels had known about this proposal since June and should have led a village-wide if not area-wide response to the proposal. It was only after the urging by her board in January that she took action.

This makes me wonder if she is really against the mall. It also concerns me that she did not update her board about discussions with the developers that took place in June, even after the developers publicly announced their intentions.

Gun violence unstinting

Editor:

Last November, Illinois voters sent a strong message. They wanted public officials concerned about the health and safety of children and families. They wanted leaders who would stand up and fight for reasonable gun violence prevention measures.

This year, the General Assembly should remember this message and oppose any misguided efforts to allow the carrying of concealed handguns. After all, nearly eight in ten registered voters disagreed with Senate Candidate Al Salvi's support of concealed handguns.

Our leaders should instead focus on the growing problem of children and gun violence. In 1994 alone, according to the National Center for Health Statistics, 402 Illinois children died from gun violence. This amounts to a classroom of kids every three weeks. It also means that at the end of today we will have lost at least another child.

Name tells the story

Editor:

The campaign for village board positions in Lake Zurich has gone into full swing, with the first set of mailings hitting resident mailboxes recently. I always get a kick out of different ways that these candidates try to set themselves apart.

As I have read through newspaper articles and some of the campaign literature, I noticed a trend that I thought I would share with your readers. In Lake Zurich, we have two political slates that are campaigning for office. The Village First slate, headed by Jim Kriskche and the Community Choice slate headed by the incumbent mayor, Debbie Vasels. Kriskche's slate, as it did two years ago, when he ran for trustee, is focusing on concerns of village residents and seeking their opinions. Even the name, Village First, emphasizes the attitude of the ticket.

On the other hand, the mayor has chosen a name and a platform that tells voters she thinks she knows what residents want. Community Choice, just like the campaign of incumbents, supported by Ms. Vasels two years ago, The Proven Leadership Party, focuses on what she wants and how she knows what is best for the village. I think residents need more of a say in how our village government is run and it certainly appears that the Lake Zurich First team of Kriskche, McAvoy, Hutton, Talbett and Steffens have tapped into this very positive approach.

Although the call is anonymous, please leave your village name.*

Running buses

This is about leaving buses running while having breakfast at a local restaurant. Will you please be more specific to which company is doing this. There are a lot of school bus drivers who go for breakfast. Only National School Bus brings their buses with them, and leaves them running. It will give everyone a bad rap. Grayslake has several bus companies serving them.

McDonalds?

This is to Holly Custod, village clerk of Hainesville, in regard to her comment about McDonald's coming to Hainesville. When you build your own schools and post office, fire and rescue squads, the taxpayers of Round Lake, Grayslake, etc. won't have to say, "Thank Goodness we had to drive all the way to Hainesville."

Chutzspa!

I think that Al Salvi has an extreme amount of chutzspa! Four hundred dollars from everyone to erase his campaign debt. Sounds like a good deal to me; everyone in Lake County can send me $5 and I can pay my bills too!

Grow up!

I've attended many Fox Lake meetings but the one on Jan. 13th was a real corker! As usual Jim Pappas made a complete fool of himself. He's got a big ego problem. No one called into Lipservice before he was trustee to complain. Come on Pappas, be a big boy, grow up.

Packers or Bears

To all you band wagon jumpers, weren't you the same ones wearing blue and orange before? And last year? Now this year you're all Packer fans!

Taxes or deductions

The schools want to increase taxes, build more roads for overcrowded traffic patterns, and more money for libraries. We allow too many tax deductions for children. Perhaps we should implement a special yearly parenting course, age appropriate to the child and submitted with tax forms. This would cut down on child abuse. Its selfish and short-sighted. There are plenty of adoptable children throughout the world to adopt. Less is really more.

Poor job

Fox Lake is doing some really bad road work. I'm glad Pappas is running, not Hoehne. They patch and don't come back to do it right. I also feel the speed limit on Rollins Rd. should not have been reduced to 30 mph, but more like 45 mph. It's ridiculous.

Stubitsch for mayor

I'm for Al Stubitsch for mayor, who's for Rt. 53. He'll spend whatever it takes to stop it and spend whatever it takes to repair roads and make older Mundelein residents pay their fair share. Us new residents are tired of carrying the load and we're not going to do it anymore.

New voice?

What is this I hear about a New Voice ticket in Round Lake? Patrick Smythe is running for mayor, his sister-in-law-Deborah Pironi, running for clerk, and brother-in-law, Michael Ross, for trustee. There's something wrong here.

Retire!

I agree with "Forget it!" Mayor Schrimpf's days are over. I won't vote for Schrimpf again. What ever happened to funds that disappeared under his leadership? No one ever found that out. He screwed up for too long. He can retire on the income of his condos.

No right turn

I'm calling to complain about the drivers on Rollins and Rt. 83. If the police were ever around they sure would be giving out the tickets, getting rich. A lot of people are making turns that are illegal.

Sore losers!

To the poor sore losing Bears fans: Too bad you didn't even make the playoffs this year. It sure must be hard to see the Packers go all the way as Super Bowl Champions. Maybe you should move to Chicago and leave us alone.

No speeding

I was glad to hear the state police are cracking down on highway speeding. Speed limits are to be enforced, not ignored, not just for the fuddy duddys who chose to follow them. Too bad the governor cut back on state police. There are a lot more accidents. I hope he will reconsider.

What's next

Carol Jonites, those weren't surveys, they are loaded questions for residents to list in order of preference. The township wasn't asked if residents wanted any of them. How would these services be paid for? If these services are put in place with a monthly bill and tax bills, and I complain, your answer will be that we demanded them. Like heck we did! What will it be next, Carol, parking meters, sidewalks, and five houses per acre?

Robber

A man in a green jacket robbed the Wauconda bank the other day. Probably a disgruntled Packer fan who spent too much money celebrating!

Signs, signs!

I'm reminding all the candidates to go easy on signs this year. Mayor Davis, in Round Lake Beach, you're the king of signs.

Vote yes

I'm so tired of hearing people complain negatively about referendums. Those of you who complain the loudest are the ones with beautiful homes, and you have the nerve to whine about it. Fox Lake Dist. 114 is asking only about 35 cents a day for the average homeowner, so get educated, vote yes and support your future generation. Those who chose to vote no, may your property plummet, and our future generations turn their backs on you when you're in your retirement.

Good ol' boys

It doesn't surprise me that the Round Lake village board gave the developer all they wanted. After all, the village attorney is football buddies with Paul Durbin. Once again its good ol' boys at work.

Wake up Round Lake

At public hearings the citizens of Round Lake and surrounding areas rejected Pritzker's zoning change. The recommendation was two homes per buildable acre. The Round Lake commission changed zoning. Hey mayor, isn't it by the people and for the people or is it government by and for the wealthy?

Paper clips

Round Lake Beach had a petition rejected because of paper clips. Could it be that the paper clip had fallen off? Perhaps during copying? Statutes state "book bound" and none of them complied. Politics in Round Lake Beach makes news again. Something stinks and its not all in Denmark.

Broke?

Mayor Davis, we don't need to pay you over $40,000 a year and an administrator over $50,000 a year. If you would listen to the residents we wouldn't be so broke. We don't need a full-time mayor who works only part-time and an administrator who won't show up for meetings.

Vote the boat

Wake up, Fox Lake. We're dying. It will help taxes and schools with more money. Let's get our heads out of the sand and vote the boat. Every day we're losing business. We need the business so we don't turn into a ghost town.

In need

This is to the Lake Zurich man whose car broke down on Milwaukee south of Marriott in Lincolnshire. You asked to be let into a private home, on a very severe cold day, and left with only a thank you. You tied up the phone for over 45 minutes. My friend hopes your big expensive car is running well. But a monetary gift would be a wonderful compensation for those calls. You should have stopped by on the first warm day to pay your debts.

Best of luck

The fund raising lunch for the New Voice, headed up by Patrick Smythe, mayoral candidate, was very motivating and positive. Best of luck to all on your slate.

What's going on?

In Round Lake Heights, home building is out of control. Eighteen hundred new homes and 600 more apartments? We need industry, not more homes to help our tax burden. What about the over crowding already in the schools? Don't put the cart before the horse. Mayor Lumpkin, shame on you. I thought this was a democracy.

Congratulations

Congratulations to Patrick Smythe, and members of New Voice ticket for successful fund raising. We need new blood. We're behind you 100%!

Final word to OJ

Something you should have known, the mills of the gods grind slowly but exceedingly fine.

Debate?

Hey Mayor Lumber, how about a debate with Patrick Smythe of the New Voice ticket? I'd love to hear you defend the toxic waste dump that was passed without the Round Lake Heights residents' knowledge. What else have you done lately to ruin the town of Round Lake?

Quality assurance?

I'm a resident of the Links of English Meadows and I can't believe what shoddy repair they have us tolerate. The house is only one year old. The repairmen show on the same day, rushing each other, and work doesn't get done. We have to call again to have them come back to fix what was to be repaired. The faucet still leaks, the metal is showing through the paint, counters not finished, corners not finished, and it goes on. Some repairmen don't even show up. This so-called quality assurance rep stated that he was not going to send anyone else out. This isn't what we put all of our money into. Well, I've already called the building departments on them, and I'll call whoever else it takes to complete the work. Lexington isn't standing behind their word. I don't think I should have to tolerate this. Would you?

The children

I hear Fox Lake school district #114 has proposed a referendum for the April 1st election. It's about time someone started thinking about the children.

Fill out correctly

Ralph Davis, the first thing in running for political office is to fill out the petition correctly. How can you run a village when you can't follow simple fourth grade instruction procedures? You must be a graduate of the Round Lake school system. What 2,000 excuses will you use this time? Your incompetence has shown again.

Strength in numbers

There's strength in numbers. If you're upset about the air traffic going overhead in our area, you'll need to come together and form your own group. Sitting and watching won't get anything accomplished. Get off your butt and do something.

Employee leasing: A way to reduce personnel costs

Entrepreneurs have many things in common. Some of the most common elements are that they want to spend less time complying with government regulations, doing paper work and dealing with personnel issues. They would like to have more time to spend on the fun parts of running their business.

Over the years, these common areas have presented some classic business opportunities. For example, the problem of dealing with employees spawned the employee leasing industry.

Employee leasing is a contractual relationship in which small and mid-sized businesses transfer their personnel and payroll functions to a company that specializes in this activity. The firm that leases the employees usually provides benefits such as health and unemployment insurance, worker's compensation and retirement programs. The employer retains full control of the work performed by employees.

Many benefits in leasing

There are many benefits in leasing employees. The first is that you can keep your present workforce. You don't need to hire new employees, rather you simply lease your present team through the leasing company.

The second benefit is that staff leasing can actually lower your cost of doing business. Savings of 2 to 5 percent are common. The savings are made possible through lower worker's compensation rates, health and unemployment insurance costs and savings in administrative time and expense. The leasing companies pool the employees of many businesses to reduce costs.

Another benefit is the reduction of the "hassle factor." For many small-business owners, the filing of payroll forms, unemployment tax reporting and medical and pension administration is an overwhelming burden. If they hire someone to handle these duties, their costs go up. If they try to fight through the paperwork themselves, their blood pressure goes up and their productivity goes down. Owners and managers often find themselves spending less and less time managing the operations of the company that produce the profit.

A related advantage is the time the owners save by not having to shop for insurance plans. Every individual owner would have to spend many hours to compare the features and benefits of several plans to ensure they are getting the best value and coverage for their employees. The employee leasing companies have specialists who can quickly compare offerings and ferret out the best value.

Staff leasing also allows the transfer of critical employee liabilities away from the business. For example, the business is no longer responsible for payroll taxes on See LEASING page C9

Internship opportunities graduates

Internship opportunities for graduate students are available through the Univ. of Illinois at Springfield Graduate Public Service Internship Program (GPSI), announced state Senator Adeline Geo-Karis.

"This is an excellent opportunity for young students to pay for graduate school, find experience in their field and learn more about state government," said Geo-Karis. "I encourage anyone interested in completing a master's degree to apply for the program."

GPSI is a 21-month program that places graduate students in public sector internships with state agencies, boards or commissions. Interns gain valuable work experience, attend weekly seminars, and complete their graduate degree.

A stipend of $635 per month for part-time work is provided during the school year and raises to $1,250 over the summer for full-time work. Tuition for 40 credit hours at the Univ. of Illinois at Springfield is waived while the student participates in the program.

The deadline to apply for next year's program is March 15. Interested students should contact Nancy Ayers, Director of Placements, Graduate Public Internship Program, PAC 412, Springfield, IL 62794-9243, (217)782-6158, Fax (217)786-6542.

Komatsu Ltd. introduces new mining company

Komatsu Ltd. of Japan announces its intention to create a new company, Komatsu Mining Systems and Support, Inc., which will focus exclusively on the mining market. The company will be headquartered in Vernon Hills.

"By creating a separate company, we will be able to better focus on and serve our mining customers," says Arlie Tucker, newly appointed chairman and CEO of Komatsu Mining Systems and Support, Inc.

"It is a visible indication of Komatsu's increased commitment to serve the mining market globally."

"Our customers will benefit by having one source for a broad line of mining products that will be sold and supported globally," he adds. "We are very much aware of the ongoing cost pressures on the world wide mining companies and expect our new company to contribute to overall mining production cost reductions."

It is expected that Komatsu Mining Systems and Support, Inc. will be operational and that all legal and administrative requirements will be completed on or before April 1. The new company will consist of the following:

- Haulpak Operations, Peoria—designs, produces, sells and supports large mining trucks and loaders.

- Komatsu ownership interests in:

- Demag Komatsu, near Dusseldorf, Germany; a joint venture that designs, produces, sells and supports large mining excavators

- Modular Mining Systems, Tucson, Ariz.; the leading producer of mine management systems

- Road Machinery co., Phoenix, Ariz.; a minority ownership of the company's distribution operation

—Rocky Mountain Machinery Co.; a distributor that represents Komatsu products in the states of Utah, Wyoming and Nevada.

—a portion of ownership in retail distribution to the mining market outside the United States and Japan.

It is also anticipated in Pioneer Equipment Company's distribution businesses, located in Nevada, will become part of the company upon its acquisition.

It is currently the subject of a Letter of Intent to acquire.

The new company will have global responsibilities for all current and future Komatsu mining products and services.

The current Office of the Chairman consists of Arlie G. Tucker and Norman Kitagawa. The future, April 1, Office of the Chairman will consist of Norman Kitagawa and David Grzelak.

Street gangs topic of March Power Breakfast

Drive-by shootings. Graffiti on buildings. Evidence of gangs in communities throughout Lake County. How does this affect you and your business? Participants will get the answer on March 5 when Street Gangs and Local Business is the focus of the Lake County Power Breakfast at Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth. Special guests this month are Detectives Carlos Perez and Larnell Farmer of the Waukegan Police Dept.—Narcotics Division.

"Many local businesses are concerned about the impact of gangs on their companies," noted Charles C. Isely, III, president/CEO of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce. "Our goal is to present an informative program on street gang problems in Lake County with real-world answers to common questions about gangs. Detectives Farmer and Perez are uniquely qualified to provide information on how to recognize gang activity, what kind of prevention programs might work and how businesses can stay out of harm's way."

Detective Perez was born in Waukegan but raised in Wisconsin. He served in the U.S. Army from 1985 until 1991, joining the Waukegan Police Dept. in 1992 as a patrolman. Now a state-certified gang specialist, Perez joined the Gang Suppression Unit in 1994 and is currently assigned to the repeat-offender program.

Born and raised in Waukegan, Detective Farmer joined the Waukegan Police Dept. in 1989. Shortly thereafter, he went undercover for six-months in the Narcotics Unit, where he served until 1995 with the exception of one year as a patrolman. He helped start the Gang Unit in 1995. Farmer is also a state-certified gang specialist currently assigned to the repeat-offender program.

The Lake County Power Breakfast is open to the public the first Wednesday of each month beginning at 7:30 a.m.

For reservations, contact Midlane Country Club at 360-0550.

RE/MAX celebrates reaching $100 million mark.

RE/MAX Advantage tops $100 million mark

"It's the agents who did it," was Broker/Owner Larry Fales in response to the news that RE/MAX Advantage Realty in Antioch has broken the $100 million mark in sales for 1996. "My goal was to provide an office where the top Realtors would have the support, along with the freedom to do their best. When you staff an office with professionals who provide top quality service to their clients, the word gets around and the results speak for themselves.

Only three offices out of the 160 in the Lake County Association of Realtors exceeded RE/MAX Advantage's sales volume last year and they are in the Libertyville market.

"Larry has assembled a sales force that will continue to break records. They are seasoned veterans who perform well in a good market and even better when the market gets tough," according to Michael Warren, Fales former broker and mentor who recently joined the team at RE/MAX. "Larry may get the recognition, but it's the public that can now expect a higher level of service who are the real winners."

John Hochrek, one of the newest RE/MAX Advantage agents, said, "The professionalism of the office is what brings clients to RE/MAX, and it's the service that keeps them there until they successfully sell their current home or find their dream home."

Fales, a Realtor since 1980, served as president of the Lake County Association of Realtors in 1993 and received the Broker Owner of the Year Award from RE/MAX of Northern Illinois in 1994. He was inducted into the RE/MAX Hall of Fame in 1993.

Economy may boost municipal bonds

The healthy economy is good news for municipal bond investments in 1997, said the head of fixed-income investment strategy for First Chicago NBD Asset Management.

"New-issue volume is anticipated to increase about 10 percent this year to a total of over $200 billion," said Timothy Kerr in Investment Perspectives, a monthly newsletter to clients. "This reflects a stronger economy and provides municipalities access to the debt markets for infrastructure improvements."

The debt-rating agencies are expected to reflect this strengthening of the economy by upgrading the ratings of numerous municipal issuers, Kerr said. "As a result, general obligation issues should be one of the top-performing sectors of the municipal market," he said.

Other areas of the municipal debt market that should do well are water and sewer revenue bonds, mainly as a result of the re-authorization of the Safe Drinking Water Act.

At the short end of the municipal yield curve, the five-year maturity provides greater value than two- or three-year maturities, Kerr said. In longer maturities, 15- to 20-year securities provide the best relative value because they capture 99 percent of the yield curve with less interest-rate risk than 25- to 30-year maturities.

Kerr did caution investors about three sectors of the municipal market:

- Utility issues, at risk because of deregulation
- Hospital issues, at risk from the looming overhaul of Medicare.
- Multifamily housing issues tied to Section 8 subsidies, at risk of the anticipated restructuring of the federal Housing and Urban Development Department.

Kenneth Wahlin

Kenneth P. Wahlin has been named project manager of Alter Design Builders. Wahlin began his career in engineering and construction in 1983 and previously worked for Alter Design Builders between 1984 and 1987. Most recently, he was project manager of Walsh Construction Company of Illinois with responsibility for large-box retail construction projects, including Target and Home Depot stores.

As project manager at Alter Design Builders, Wahlin is responsible for carrying out all phases of a project's design and construction, including coordinating design, project schedules, bid packages, contracts and change orders, cost projections, subcontractor coordination and invoice processing.

A native of Sweden, Wahlin lives in Deerfield with his wife, Jenny, and their two sons, Perry, 3 and newborn, Eric.

Christopher Picone

Christopher L. Picone, vice president and general counsel for Baird and Warner, has been named to the newly created post of chief operating officer (COO).

In his expanded role, Picone will oversee all operational functions for Baird and Warner. Picone joined Baird and Warner in 1991. In addition to functioning as general counsel, he has served as the company's asset manager and has overseen a complete restructuring of its diversified real estate portfolio. Picone and his wife Kathy, reside in Bannockburn.

Leasing

leased employees. The burden of defending worker's compensation and unemployment insurance claims, as well as complying with a myriad of other government regulations also shifts to the leasing company.

Other benefits include standardized personnel manuals, written job descriptions and help with interviewing and testing of potential employees. Some leasing companies can even do background checks and drug testing programs.

Not risk free

No business relationship is free from risk. The lease company could be poorly managed and fail. Or they might not pay insurance premiums and leave your employees in the cold when a claim is filed.

Before you sign up, check out the leasing firm. Reputable companies will be quick to give you references. Check these references to confirm that the company does all they promise.

Most well established companies will be members of the National Staff Leasing Assn. This association requires quarterly audits by outside firms to ensure proper conduct.

In summary, a good leasing company can save you time and money. Most importantly, it may allow you to get back to the core operations of your business. By focusing your efforts on doing the tasks you do best, you may increase your profits even more.

Frances Schaffer

Frances Schaffer, a veteran real estate manager and 30-year resident of the North Shore, has been appointed manager of Baird and Warner's Libertyville Office at 1113 S. Milwaukee Ave.

Schaffer is a 20-year real estate veteran and brings a broad range of professional experience to her new position—from more than $75 million in total career sales volume, to the ownership of her own real estate brokerage, which merged with Baird and Warner in 1995.

Schaffer holds several nationally recognized professional designations including the Graduate Realtors Institute (GRI), the Certified Residential Specialist

(CRS) and the Certified Residential Broker (CRB). These designations are conveyed by the National Assn. of Realtors and achieved by a limited number of real estate professionals nationwide.

Christopher Hoelz

Christopher Hoelz of RE/MAX Showcase of Long Grove, has earned his Accredited Buyer Representative (ABR) designation.

The ABR designation is awarded by the National Assn. of Realtors. Candidates must pass written examination and be affluent in Buyer Real Estate representation.

Mid-sized Prescott designed for easy family living

The Prescott, with its wrap-around covered porch and perky gables, has a downright friendly look to it. This mid-size family home has spacious family living areas downstairs, and four big bedrooms on the second floor.

Kitchen, family room and nook flow together. A work island with raised eating bar provides minimal separation, and a sunny bay window expands the nook. Sliders in the family room open onto a small patio. The powder room, just inside the entry, is equally handy to the garage, while the garage is connected to the family room by a pass-through utility area.

Windows line most of the rear wall, so whether you're relaxing in the family room, or standing at the kitchen sink, you can let your mind wander while you enjoy the view.

Dining room and living room are all of a piece, and naturally illuminated from three sides. In the living room, the light is softer, muted by the covered porch. If you like big window seats, the living room bay makes a great location.

The master suite is designed to serve as an adult retreat. Luxuries here include a small box-bay sitting area and a fireplace. Few experiences are more relaxing than lying in bed, watching flickering shadows of firelight play across the ceiling. Other features: two closets, double vanity, and a separately enclosed toilet and shower.

Three secondary bedrooms share another bathroom, this one outfitted with a tub. The two bedrooms at the rear of the Prescott are about the same size, but the one on the left is larger and boasts twice as much closet space.

For a review plan, including scaled floor plans, elevations, section and artist's conception, send $15 to Associated Designs, 1100 Jacobs Dr., Eugene, Ore. 97402. Please specify the Prescott 10-260 and include a return address when ordering. A catalog featuring over 170 home plans is available for $12.

PUBLIC NOTICE VILLAGE OF LAKE ZURICH NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all persons that the Village of Lake Zurich Zoning Board of Appeals shall conduct a public hearing on March 20, 1997 at 7:30 p.m. in the Board Room of the Lake Zurich Village Hall, 70 East Main Street, Lake Zurich, Illinois, for the purpose of considering an application filed with the Village for a variation pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Lake Zurich Zoning Code. A copy of the application and the Zoning Code are on file with, and available for public inspection during regular Village business hours in the Lake Zurich Building Department. The application requests the following variation from Subparagraph 8-302A5 (a): A variation to allow mitigation of conservancy soils for the purpose of constructing a 92 acre industrial subdivision fronting Quentin Road, and legally described as follows:

The Southerly Half of Lot 1, all of Lot 8, and all of Lot 9 in School Trustees' Subdivision of Section 16 in Township 43 North, Range 10, East of the Third Principal Meridian; except therefrom all that part lying Westerly of the Easterly line of Lake Zurich Industrial Center Units 2, 3, 4A, and the First Resubdivision of Lake Zurich Industrial Center Unit 3;

ALSO, Lots 1, 2, 3, and 4 in Lake Zurich Estates, being a Subdivision of parts of Sections 15 and 16 in Township 43 North, Range 10 East of the Third Principal Meridian; Except therefrom all that part lying Easterly of the Westerly right-of-way line of Quentin Road;

ALSO, that part of the Southwest Quarter of said Section 15, lying Westerly of said Westerly right-of-way line and Northerly of said Lots 1 and 2 in said Lake Zurich Estates; All in Lake County, Illinois.

At said public hearing, the Zoning Board of Appeals shall accept all testimony and evidence pertaining to said application and shall consider any and all possible zoning actions, including the granting of all necessary variations or other special approvals, that may be necessary or convenient to permit development of the proposed type at the described property. All interested persons are invited to attend and be heard.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search,

I answered an advertisement in the newspaper for a position in a small company. They were seeking a general office/receptionist for a 4 person office. When I initially called, the person I spoke with set up an interview with me for late that afternoon. When I arrived, the office was closed. I was 10 minutes early for my appointment and while I could not understand no one being there I decided to wait for a while. I waited for an additional 15 minutes and still no one showed up. I went to a pay phone and called their telephone number and received an answering machine for which I left a message to call me. The next day I received a call from the company asking me to come back for the interview that afternoon yet they offered no explanation for why there was no one there for my interview the day before. I reluctantly went there a second time and was practically offered the job instantly. They told me they needed an answer then and there to start the following day. You can imagine my concern to make a snap decision, however jobs are hard to come by, so I accepted. I worked for a full week before I decided to ask when I receive a paycheck, and was shocked to find out that the company pays on the 1st and 15th of each month. I also found out that the company which advertised as offering benefits, offered only the benefit of a discount on the company's business service. Needless to say, I quit after the first week. I learned a lesson from this. I should have followed my instincts from the onset, knowing something was wrong when no one was there to interview me and no explanation. I hope this letter helps open the eyes of others if in a similar position. Thanks for listening.

R.P.-Lindenhurst

Dear R.P.,

A stronger lesson to be learned...Find out about pay, paydates, benefits and such...before accepting a position. That way, there leaves no room for shock! Be leary of a company that demands a split second decision.

Dear Search,

I worked for a company for about 3 months and started getting close with another employee. My former boyfriend showed up at the office after work and started a fight with the fellow in the parking lot. It didn't get totally out of control, however, the next day I was laid off from my job. The reasons were not pointed out to me, but I'm sure that it was related to the fight. I'm unemployed but the co-worker is still employed there. I don't feel this was fair. I did not cause the fight, but they won't listen to that. What should I do?

K.D.-Ivanhoe

Dear K.D.,

First thing to do...Find another job. Second...Find another boyfriend who can act a bit more mature when it comes to your work place. Third...Don't get involved with co-workers.

An Easy Dog To Love
"TOBY" is a male, black and tan doberman mix. Just three years old, Toby is a smaller mid-size with big brown puppy dog eyes, and an endlessly wagging tail. Toby has so many outstanding characteristics that make him an easy dog to love. He is handsome, super friendly, outgoing, playful but not hyper, and he adores people. Toby loves attention and is so affectionate and sweet that you just can't help but smile at his winning ways. A real "kids" dog, Toby will be a wonderful, joyful, winning addition to your family. This adorable boy has been overlooked at the shelter since February of 1996. If you are looking for a special dog, Toby is a treasure that is waiting to be discovered, in Cage 67.

KAEMPFERI

A large workshop, separate from the garage, is included in the floorplan of the Kaempferi, a compact single-level home with a country style front porch.

Economical to build, this home is well-suited to the needs of first-time home buyers, singles, or empty nesters. And it can be adapted for wheelchair accessibility.

Family living areas are at the front, bedrooms at the back. The vaulted ceiling gives a sense of spaciousness to the living room. A five-sided bay window brightens the living room and creates an interesting recess for plants, a specially designed couch, a couple of easy chairs--the possibilities are endless. The living room also has a door that opens onto a small deck.

Most homes this size have two bathrooms, but this one has three. The one next to the garage comes in handy for clean-up when clothes and shoes are grubby from working in the shop or garden.

Counter space in the kitchen is augmented by a work island, with a built-in range and oven. Other features include a large walk-in pantry, broom closet, and built-in dishwasher. Sink and dishwasher are nestled into a bay window that faces the street. Some families might prefer to outfit the adjacent space as a family room, rather than a dining room.

Luxury touches in the master suite include a huge walk-in closet, oversized shower and twin basins in the dressing area. A glass door provides access to the deck.

The utility room has cabinets and a long counter for folding clothes. It can be entered from the back yard, as well as from the interior hallway. Although not included in the plan, another deck could be built behind the home.

A skylight brightens the main bathroom and a large linen closet is across the hall, next to the coat closet by the entry.

Bedroom three, which is accessible from the kitchen, could be used as a home office, hobby room, or you-name-it, if a third bedroom is not needed.

For a study kit of the KAEMPFERI (336-050LP60), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd. E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424 (Be sure to specify plan name & number.) For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.
